NEW LEAF TURNED BY LOBBY PROBERS IN STORY OF SUGAR

Frank Lowry Gives Details of the Nation-Wide Campaign to Remove the Duty From Sugar.

NO LOBBY, SAYS LOWRY, JUST A DIRECT PRIMARY

Pressure Was Sought on Oscar Underwood—Melville Stone Tells How Beet Sugar Men Tried to Use the Associated Press and Failed.

Washington, June 19.—The senate committee in pursuit of "the lobby" turned over a new leaf in the story of sugar today and heard the details of the nation-wide and long-continued campaign the advocates of free sugar made to remove the duty on that article.

Frank C. Lowry, sales agent of the Federal Sugar Refining company, secretary and organizer of the "committee of wholesale grocers," for the free sugar chapter for the committee, while Senator Cummins acted as guide through the smoke of the battle of arguments, and Senators Nelson and Walsh lent their assistance when the issues seemed to become obscured.

Tonight the committee adjourned subject to the call of the chair. The three democratic members will be released to attend the democratic caucus on the tariff bill which begins tomorrow and Chairman Overman did not know when the hearings would be resumed.

Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Union Pacific board of directors, had not been summoned to appear tonight and his subpoena may not be served until the inquiry is taken up again.

How He Fought for Free Sugar.

Lowry's examination featured the closing session of the committee. He told of his attempts to accelerate public opinion and to persuade congressmen and senators, and spoke frankly of his efforts in the national campaign of last fall. He said he furnished most of the sugar information which appeared in the democratic campaign text book; that he prepared data on free sugar for a democratic campaign document which the present secretary of the navy, Mr. Daniels, said would get circulation of a million in pamphlet form, and that he had wired urging every member of the resolutions committee at the Baltimore convention to put a free sugar plank in the democratic platform. The witness was on the stand for four hours and when he left he promised to produce any correspondence in his files relating to the organization of the grocers' committee or his free sugar campaign. Many of the circulars sent out by him on the letterhead of that organization were read into the record by Senator Cummins.

Lowry testified that he had conducted his fight solely for the federal company and that other refiners had not figured in it. He thought the expenses had amounted to about $25,000 in four years, exclusive of his salary and commission as sales agent, amounting to about $68,000 in that period. He got nothing for his tariff work, he said.

Didn't Seem to Favor Free Sugar.

After many questions by Senator Cummins the witness agreed that although all the sugar refiners did not seem to favor free sugar, they would benefit only in a less degree than the Federal by a reduction in duty. Lowry said, however, that an official of the American Sugar Refining company, the so-called trust, had told him that free sugar "would put us out of business."

Senator Nelson was especially interested in the committee of wholesale grocers, and wanted to know just how it was formed.

"There was no formal meeting," said Lowry. "I wrote to twenty-five or thirty wholesale grocers and suggested that we form such a committee."

"They were just dummies, then" suggested Senator Nelson.

"I don't think they were very dumb," replied Lowry.

"The whole proceeding was carried on by correspondence?"

"Yes."

"You appointed the secretary and chairman and organized the committee?"

"Yes, sir."

Lowry told of efforts to break up the committee.

"The domestic sugar people sent out men," he said, "to try to break it up. They said, 'Lowry is a bad man; you will be subpoenaed before a congressional committee in Washington.' But they stuck."

"What authority had you to select

NEGRO IS LYNCHED AND BODY BURNED

Enraged Citizens of Hot Springs, Ark., Avenge Fatal Assault on a Little Girl. Lynching in Heart of City.

Hot Springs, Ark., June 19.—Will Norman, a negro, captured after a twelve-hour search of the mountains about Hot Springs, was hanged to a telephone pole at the most prominent street corner of the business district of this city early tonight, within an hour of the death of his victim, the 14-year-old daughter of former Circuit Judge C. Floyd Huff. His body was riddled with bullets and later burned. Several thousand persons witnessed the lynching.

The child was attacked at the Huff home this morning during the absence of other members of the family. When she attempted to fight off her assailant the negro clubbed her into insensibility, fracturing her skull, and forced her into a closet where she was found some time later by a younger brother.

Norman, who was employed at the Huff home, was captured shortly after nightfall at a negro cabin where he sought refuge after evading posses with bloodhounds during the day. He made no denial of his identity nor of the crime but pleaded that the mob be prevented from burning him. An effort was made to hurry him to jail but before the prison was reached the news of his capture had spread and the mob was quick in forming. He was taken from his captors on the jail steps and despite the pleading of several city officials hurried to the center of the most frequented thoroughfare and hanged.

NO TAINT OF GRAFT ON THE MINISTERS

David Lloyd-George and Sir Rufus Isaacs Aquitted of Corruption by the Commons. Proceedings Were Solemn.

London, June 19.—"Resolved, that this house, after hearing the statement of the attorney general and the chancellor of the exchequer in reference to their purchase of shares in the Marconi company of America, accepts their expression of regret that such purchases were made and that they were not mentioned in the debate of October 11 last and acquits them of acting otherwise than in good faith and reprobates the charges of corruption against the ministers, which have been proved to be absolutely false."

With this substitute motion proposed by Sir William Ryland Dent Adkins, adopted by a vote of 346 to 268, the house of commons tonight officially closed the Marconi affair.

The heavy guns of both parties—the prime minister, Mr. Asquith, and the secretary for foreign affairs, Sir Edward Grey, in behalf of their colleagues under inquisition, and A. J. Balfour and Andrew Bonar Law, for the conservatives, led the defense and attack.

The proceedings were judicial and solemn; the assembly might have been mistaken for a church congregation, so profound was the decorum throughout the greater part of the debate. The subdued light through the stained windows descended upon solid rows of silk-hatted, black-coated, white-spatted gentlemen, evidently upon their best behavior and determined to live up to the highest traditions of the house.

There were other speakers and some skirmishes occurred, but none of the pyrotechnics which Chancellor Lloyd-George and Lord Robert Cecil furnished yesterday. None of the old parliamentary skeletons were dragged from the closets, as had been threatened. Both sides hesitated to begin the mud throwing, partly, perhaps, because the newspapers had warned them that the country did not want such a spectacle, partly because they were uncertain which side would emerge from the affray most shattered.

The speeches of the prime minister and the secretary for the state affairs gave the impression that the advocates were not enthusiastic over their clients. Mr. Balfour and Mr. Law had the appearance of performing a disagreeable duty.

The vote on Sir William Adkin's amendment was strictly on party lines, the laborites and nationalists supporting the government, although a few liberals and laborites abstained from voting.

STATE CONVENTION TO DISCUSS W. & A.

Resolutions Calling for State-Wide Conference Adopted at Chamber of Commerce Meeting.

Resolutions calling for a state-wide convention to be held in Atlanta at an early date to consider the future of the Western and Atlantic railroad were unanimously adopted at a meeting of the chamber of commerce held in Taft hall last night. The resolutions instruct President Wilmer L. Moore to appoint a committee of five to select a date and make all necessary arrangements for, the meeting.

It was the sense of the meeting that the convention, composed of delegates from the various trade bodies and commercial organizations of the state, should be held at an early date so that the legislature, which assembles here next week, may have the result of its deliberations.

Resolutions Adopted.

The resolutions, which were proposed by C. H. McKinney, were as follows:

"Be it resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that a convention of representatives of the people of this state should be held in the city of Atlanta at an early date for the purpose of giving consideration to the great question of what use or disposition shall be made of the Western and Atlantic railroad upon the expiration of the present outstanding lease.

"Resolved, That the president of the Atlanta chamber of commerce be requested to appoint a committee of five to select a date and to make the necessary arrangements for holding of a state convention in the city of Atlanta for the purpose of considering the proper disposition of the Western and Atlantic railroad."

President Wilmer L. Moore, of the chamber of commerce, presided at the meeting and introduced W. A. Wimbish, chairman of the committee on the Western and Atlantic railroad, as the first speaker.

Mr. Wimbish said that the great questions involved in the disposition of the state road were of importance to the people of the whole state as well as to the people of Atlanta and that the interest of the people of the city and the state in its solution were identical. He then reviewed the history of the road from its construction and lauded the foresight of its builders.

Two Points of View.

"The future disposition of the road may be looked upon from the standpoint of an investment simply, or from the standpoint of its effect upon the other railroads of the state," he said. "From the first standpoint, the release of the road may be considered advisable. From the latter viewpoint he takes its operation by the state will be essential. The committee is not agreed as to which policy will be the best one, but does advise the calling of a state convention to consider all details of the problem.

The second speaker, Murphey Candler, chairman of the railroad commission, declared that he favored the operation of the road by the people in future and would oppose to the last a release of it to a corporation or to private individuals.

He regarded the road as a great freight regulator, and was convinced that, used as such, it would be of inestimable value to the people of the state.

Candler for State Operation.

He thought that the operation of the road by the people might be made profitable, but that was not the highest service to the state that it could perform. He declared that with a railroad one hundred miles long between any two given points in the state and

HUSBAND, AT 80, MUST PAY ALIMONY TO WIFE OF 45

When the first knots of the tangled skein of the 36-day marital life of "Uncle Jimmy" Camp, aged 80, and his bride of 9, formerly Miss Martha Cowart, were unravelled in superior court yesterday, the details showed half comic, half tragic. It ended by the court ordering the aged man to pay his wife $25 per month as alimony and to pay her attorenys $5). The court also declared that she must pay him $60 per month as rental for her home at 536 North Boulevard.

"Uncle Jimmy" was originally an inmate of "Bachelors' Domain," when illness overtook him and Mrs. Cowart invaded the sanctity of the place to nurse him, then the couple became engaged and were wedded. The bride now claims that her spouse underestimated his age and overestimated his wealth, although she says he is decidedly well off.

Prominent among the spectators was Colonel Jasper N. Smith, of "The House That Jack Built" fame and also known as the man who wears a stovepipe hat, but no cravat, and who has already installed his own monument on top of his own vault in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Cowart asked the court for divorce and permanent alimony, but the only question to be settled were those pertaining to attorneys' fees and temporary alimony.

14 PERSONS ARE KILLED AND OVER 30 INJURED

When Electric Trains Collide. Accident Due to Confusion of Orders.

Vallejo, Cal., June 19.—A confusion of orders brought death to fourteen persons today when two electric trains met head-on near here, while running at high speed. Eleven were instantly killed, three died within a short time and three of the thirty or more injured are perhaps fatally hurt.

The conductor of one of the trains who took orders by telephone from the despatcher just before the accident is among those probably fatally injured.

Nearly all of the killed or injured were residents of Vallejo and vicinity.

RECEIVER IS WANTED FOR PAINTER ORGANS

U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Company Wants an Independent Examination.

Baltimore, June 19.—Another step was taken here today in the legal battle for the possession of the vital organs of Edward O. Painter, the Jacksonville, Fla., fertilizer manufacturer who lost his life in the St. Johns river some weeks ago.

Attorneys for the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, which issued a large accident policy to Painter, applied for a receiver for the organs which had been sent to Baltimore for chemical examination. The court was asked to authorize the receiver to make an independent examination.

Judge Duffy gave the defendant heirs until next Wednesday to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed. The guaranty company alleges that a portion of the viscera had already been turned over to the Painter interests.

WILSON AND BRYAN NEARING A SPLIT?

President Has Failed to Consult Bryan About Currency and It Is Rumored That the Nebraskan Doesn't Like It.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—(Special.)—Undoubtedly interesting developments are threatened in reference to currency legislation which may bring about the much talked of but until now undeveloped split between President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan.

It is reported here on the very best of authority that some feeling has arisen on the part of Mr. Bryan because he has not been called in conference with President Wilson on currency legislation. The president has taken up this matter with quite a number of democratic leaders. Indeed, he has been in frequent conference on the subject, but up to the present time it seems that he has not turned to Mr. Bryan in the matter of currency legislation.

It is said that Mr. Bryan has his own well developed views as to how the currency should be reformed, and it is said that he has not hesitated to make it known that the wisest course for congress to pursue is along the line of his preconceived ideas on the subject.

This matter has only taken the shape of rumor here up to the present time, but it is a source of general comment among congressmen and no one would be surprised to see a split develop between the president and Mr. Bryan over the currency question.

20 YEARS A PASTOR, HE FORSAKES PULPIT TO BECOME LAWYER

Griffin, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—With a loop-the-loop jump Dr. Dent Atkinson, who for over twenty years has been a Presbyterian minister, and for some years recently has been in chautauqua work, while here in connection with the chautauqua just closed, quit that field of work, laid aside the ministerial robes, withdrew from the republican party to the democratic and took an examination for admission to the bar of Georgia, and was admitted by Judge Robert T. Daniel, of the Flint River circuit.

Dr. Atkinson is an Englishman by birth, but has been in this country thirty-five years. He holds a Ph.D. degree from the University of Illinois, as well as a diploma from Harvard. He has taken a three years' course in law training in Ohio Northern university and Chicago university. For years he has traveled, going around the world.

His purpose is to locate in Atlanta next September to enter actively into practice before all the courts. Dr. Atkinson says his specialty in practice will be either criminal law or corporation.

Destructive Hail Storm.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 19.—Hampton, in Carter county, reports the severest hail and thunder storm in its history. Entire fields of wheat and corn were destroyed, window panes broken and two houses unroofed. Many gardens were destroyed and fruit beaten off the trees. The damage will run into the thousands.

Engineer Not Guilty.

Hornell N. Y., June 19.—William H. Schroeder, an engineer of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway, was acquitted tonight of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the wreck at Corning, July 4, when 40 passengers were killed.

REVOLUTIONARY CHANGES IN THE CURRENCY SYSTEM ARE PROPOSED BY WILSON

Administration Measure Provides for Rediscounting Commercial Paper, for Elastic Notes and for Doing a Foreign Banking Business.

U. S. FISCAL OPERATIONS ARE TO BE CONDUCTED BY U. S. RESERVE BANKS

These Federal Banks Are to Be Controlled by a Federal Reserve Board of Seven Members—Recasting of the Present Bank Reserve System Is Provided for by the Measure.

Washington, June 19.—The administration currency bill was made public tonight by Representative Glass, chairman of the house committee on banking and currency. It will be introduced in the house and senate after President Wilson has delivered in person his address to congress on Monday.

An outline of the measure prepared by Mr. Glass describes it as "a basis for legislative action," states that it will be gone over in detail for alterations, and sets out that its purpose is to accomplish three principal objects:

Provision of a means for rediscounting commercial paper of specified types.

A basis for elastic notes properly safeguarded.

Machinery for doing foreign banking business.

Essentials of the Measure.

The measure's essentials remain as they have been outlined from time to time since the president began a study of the subject with house and senate leaders, Secretary McAdoo and other advisers, providing twelve or more federal reserve banks which will rediscount paper, deal in government, security exchange and conduct government fiscal operations. National banks and such state banks and trust companies as conform to standards would be stockholders of the reserve banks. The government would hold no stock.

The government would control the federal reserve banks entirely through a federal reserve board of seven members in which the banks would have no representation. The board would be composed of the secretary of the treasury, secretary of agriculture, the comptroller of the currency as members ex-officio; four other members would be chosen by the president and confirmed by the senate.

The national bank note circulation would remain undisturbed and no proposal is made in the bill for retiring approximately $700,000,000 2 per cent bonds, upon which that note issue rests. An amendment or separate bill to refund those bonds into 3 per cent bonds may be introduced later.

$500,000,000 New Notes If Needed.

In addition to the $700,000,000 existing national bank notes, not more than $500,000,000 in what are to be known as federal reserve treasury notes might be issued at the discretion of the federal reserve board solely for the purpose of making advances to the federal reserve banks, which would do no business with the public, deal only with their member banks and re-

THOS. M. NORWOOD CALLED BY DEATH

Prominent Figure in Georgia's Political and Literary Life Succumbs at Age of 77 to Apoplectic Stroke.

Savannah, Ga., June 19.—(Special.) Judge Thomas M. Norwood, former United States senator and a prominent figure in Georgia's political and literary life, died at his country place, "Harrock Hall," on La Roche avenue, near Savannah, at 10:20 o'clock tonight. Since early in April he had been in failing health, but his last serious illness dated from June 3.

Judge Norwood was born in Talbot county April 26, 1836, but the sturdy strain of a vigorous and long-lived ancestry and the temperate habits of a lifetime made the nearly four score years he had seen when he left the bench sit lightly on him, and he was more active, physically and mentally, at 77 than are many men many years his junior.

Judge Norwood's life extended over the most momentous period of American history, and he was a conspicuous actor therein. His early education was received in the little village of Culloden, in Monroe county, in which place his parents moved in his boyhood. From there he went to Emory college, where he graduated in 1850 under the presidency of George F. Pierce, afterwards one of the most distinguished bishops in the Methodist church.

Admitted to Bar.

After a brief period of school teaching young Norwood studied law in the office of James Milton Smith at Culloden and was admitted to the bar at the same time with his friend and fellow-student, Cladius C. Wilson, who afterwards became his partner under the firm name of Norwood & Wilson when they began the practice of law in Savannah. The new firm did not continue in existence long. The war clouds that had for years been lowering over the country broke in 1861 into that awful storm that raged for four years and the young lawyers joined the army of the confederate states.

Judge Norwood's political or legislative career began more than half a century ago in the Georgia legislature, of which body, says a historian of the times, he "was among the leaders," and in which he replied on one occasion to that great lawyer, Judge Linton Stephens, in a speech of marked vigor and ability.

The years immediately following the war were devoted to the practice of his profession, and with such success that he was able to enter the political arena as a candidate for the United States senate in 1871.

Elected to Senate.

He was elected and served six years in that body at a time when sectional hatred was at its height and abuse and oppression of the south was the fashion and the surest way to win plaudits and promotion at the north, and when the few southern democrats who were there had to be slow and cautious of speech, lest thereby they might do more harm than good. It was hard to endure without reply the onslaughts upon the people, but it was one of those times when silence was often wiser than speech, and it was not until Sumner's famous civil rights bill came before the senate that the senior senator from Georgia saw an opportunity to deal a blow at abolition, fanaticism, sectional and partisan prejudice and bitterness and in defense of the people of his own state and section.

Senator Norwood promptly seized the opportunity and utilized it by making a speech that immediately won him a national reputation, and almost to the day of his death he received inquiries for copies of his speech on the civil rights bill. The democratic members of congress had 50,000 copies printed for general circulation, one senator alone, Senator Bayard, of Delaware, ordering 5,000 copies. It was not such a surprise to those who had read and remembered the "nemesis letters," excoriating Bulloch, the carpet bagger governor of Georgia, a few years before his speech on the civil rights bill.

Another Famous Speech.

When the resolution to admit the negro, P. B. S. Pinchback, as senator from Louisiana, was under consideration, Senator Norwood added to his reputation by another speech which was a more powerful and stinging arraignment of republican misrule than was even the civil rights speech, but perhaps, altogether, the most finished of his speeches was the one delivered before the alumni of his alma mater, Emory college, in 1873, and which contains one of the most beautiful tributes ever paid to Robert E. Lee.

When he retired from the senate, Judge Norwood resumed the practice of his profession, and in 1880, when the state democratic convention failed to nominate a candidate for governor by the prescribed two-thirds majority, he was extended and accepted the nomination by the minority wing, but was defeated by Governor Colquitt, who was a candidate for re-election.

Judge Norwood continued the practice of his profession together with farming until he was returned to congress as representative of this congressional district in which capacity he served in the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth congresses (1884-1889).

Judge Norwood retired from the bench of the city court at the close of 1907, not having been a candidate for re-election. He had both civil and criminal jurisdiction over a county of nearly 100,000 population, about half of whom were negroes and during his tenure had to pass upon about 1,000 criminal charges each year. The facts observed in the course of his long and arduous service in that high and responsible office and the conclusions and reflections based thereon, he embodied at length in a paper which he ceive deposits only from the United States.

While the notes would, on their face, purport to be the obligations of the United States, they would be required to be secured by a gold reserve of 33 1-3 per cent, provided by the federal reserve bank, would be a first and paramount lien on all the assets of these banks and would be redeemable in gold on demand at the treasury department in the city of Washington or any federal reserve bank.

Stringent provisions are made against counting any of these notes as a part of bank reserves, and the system is guarded against inflation by lodging power with the federal reserve board to exact an interest charge upon the treasury notes in order to secure their prompt redemption. The notes are not made legal tender, but would be receivable by the government and every bank of the system at par without exchange.

No change would be made in the existing law relative to national notes.

Recasting Reserve System.

The federal reserve board would require one federal reserve bank to rediscount the paper of another, and would establish a rate on discount not necessarily uniform for all reserve banks, thus varying from week to week commodating the commerce of the country and promoting a stable price level.

"For recasting the present bank reserve system the bill proposes to transfer the reserves from national banks in the present reserve and central reserve cities to federal reserve banks, carrying the process of transfer over thirty-eight months to avoid shock to market conditions.

The bill proposes according to Mr. Glass' statement, ultimately the establishment of a reserve system by which country banks will have 15 per cent of reserve in cash, 15 per cent of total demand liabilities; such 15 per cent to be held 5 per cent in the bank vaults, 5 per cent with the national reserve bank and 5 per cent either at home or with the reserve bank, while reserve and central reserve city banks have reserves of 20 per cent of demand liabilities, of which 10 per cent will be at home, 5 per cent with the reserve bank of the district, and 5 per cent either at home or with the reserve bank, Mr. Glass said.

"The presumed effect of this plan will be to end the piling of reserves with central reserve city banks for use in stock market operations, to keep reserves in some measure at home, and to require speculators to get the funds they need in their operations either by directly borrowing them from persons who hold them and want to lend the use of them for a time, or else by borrowing from the banks in the places where the operations are to be carried on.

Present Reserve System Antiquated.

"In the belief that the present reserve system is antiquated and unsatisfactory, that the massing of funds in New York and other financial centers, of which so much has been said in recent years, is largely due to the present reserve requirements of national banks, and that in order to get the real benefit from the system of re-discount which has been proposed as a remedy for many existing evils, it is necessary to base such system upon an actual control of reserves, provision has been made for recasting the present bank reserve system.

"The bill is based on the belief that no one should participate in the control of the system unless he is financially interested himself, or chosen by those who are, except insofar as the government steps in and asserts the authority of the whole community. With this in mind the system has been devised so as to provide for the continuation of existing national banks with their organization, powers and function unchanged. In addition there is established a system of federal reserve banks, which are incorporated institutions holding federal charters and in all respects managed like national banks, except as to the election of directors.

"There are twelve of these federal reserve banks, each managed by a board of nine directors, three of whom will be expert bankers selected by the banks, three will be members selected in the same way but required to represent the commercial, industrial or agricultural interests of the district and subject to removal by the federal reserve board in case they do not fairly represent these interests. The remaining three directors are to be chosen by the federal reserve board."

Not Result Summed Up.

The object of the bill is to effect a moderate division and classification of banking business along indicated lines, the net result presumably being summed up as follows:

"National reserve banks will be strictly limited to re-discounting actual commercial and industrial transactions evidenced by very short term paper and on rare occasions, under carefully prescribed conditions, to financial operations protected by collateral. They will also be able to engage in foreign exchange operations, etc.

"National banks will be subjected to precisely the same restrictions as at present with a relaxation in favor of a moderate amount of real estate loans by country banks under carefully guarded conditions.

"By a revision of the administrative features of the national banking act, provision will be made for close oversight of national institutions with a view to holding them strictly up to the requirements of legitimate banking business.

"In order to possess themselves of the kind of paper entitling them to rediscounts, national banks will find themselves obliged to keep a reasonable proportion of their assets in that form of paper eligible for re-discounting.

All Funds in U. S. Revenue Banks.

"It is believed that the present subtreasury system is unsatisfactory, clumsy, injurious to business and difficult to manage in times of stress. The bill, therefore, provides for—

"The placing of all current funds of the treasury in federal reserve banks and the payment of government creditors by check thereon.

"The equalization of the public funds between the different reserve banks by direction of the secretary of the treasury and subject to a rate of interest to be fixed by the federal reserve board.

"The trust funds of the treasury are to be held as at present in the vaults of the treasury.

"Under the terms of the bill the federal reserve banks, after the payment of all expenses and taxes, are entitled to pay an annual cumulative dividend of 5 per cent on paid-in capital to its stockholding members. One-half the net earnings of the banks must be paid into the surplus fund until said fund shall amount to 20 per cent of the paid in capital of the bank. The remaining one-half of the bank's earnings shall be paid to the United States, and whenever and so long as the surplus fund of each federal reserve bank amounts to 20 per cent of the paid-in capital, the shareholders havings received their permissible dividend of 5 per cent, all excess earnings shall be paid to the United States. Every federal reserve bank is exempt from federal, state and local taxation, except in respect to taxes upon real estate.

Reserve Banks and Board.

The terms of office of the four members of the federal reserve board as pointed by the president are to be eight years, with the provision that these first appointed will serve two, four, six and eight years, respectively.

Up to the last few days, the federal reserve board was to have consisted of nine members instead of seven, and the banks were to be permitted to select three of those.

"This it will be noted," says Mr. Glass' statement, "the government will have absolute control of the system.

"The salary of each member, excepting the cabinet members, will be $10,000 a year and the controller of the currency would receive $5,000 in addition to the $5,000 salary he now receives.

"The chief points in the new federal reserve bank are described as follows:

"The number is to be twelve, with possible increase later as provided.

"The ownership is to be in the hands of the stockholding banks of the twelve districts in which the reserve banks are situated. The national banks are compelled to be members and state banks and trust companies are permitted to be members.

"The capitalization is to be 20 per cent of the capital of the stockholding banks, one-half paid in and one-half subject to call.

Business of Reserve Banks.

"The business of these federal reserve banks is to be as follows:

"Rediscounting of paper presented by stockholding banks under specified conditions, provided such paper grows out of actual agricultural, commercial, or industrial transactions, and does not run more than a specific number of days.

"Buying and selling government securities, gold and silver bullion and foreign coin, foreign exchange and open market sales of given maturity.

"The government or fiscal operations.

"In order to meet the view so often expressed in commercial circles to the effect that the prosecution of American business in foreign countries would be greatly helped by improved facilities," Mr. Glas' statement continued, "the bill authorizes any national banking association with a minimum capital of $1,000,000 to establish branches in foreign countries for the furtherance of foreign commerce of the United States, and to act as federal agents of the United States abroad." The federal reserve board is required to pass upon all such applications.

The federal reserve board would be clothed with such administrative powers as would permit classification and designation of reserve banks, discipline of officials of federal reserve banks and receiverships.

Parts of Present Laws Repealed.

Certain portions of the existing banking laws would be repealed, the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency act would be completely superseded, and in a separate bill a general revision of the administrative provisions of the national bank act is to be provided.

The bill would provide that within ninety days from the date of its passage the secretary of the treasury shall designate the federal reserve districts, the organization of the federal reserve banks shall begin and the "transition period," during which the reserves shall be adjusted to the new plan, must be complete at the end of thirty-eight months.

Administration officials started today to smooth out the differences among democratic members over the proposal to act on the currency measure during the present session. President Wilson asked democratic members on the committees of banking and currency to meet him at the white house tomorrow night. Senator Owen invited the president to confer with the democratic members of his committee at the capitol next Wednesday and he accepted.

Secretary Bryan was in conference with Representative Henry, of Texas, and Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the house committee investigating committee of the last congress. Mr. Henry had advocated a renewal of the inquiry. It was reported that an understanding had been reached whereby if the investigation were resumed it would not conflict with the consideration of currency legislation.

ZUCCARELLI KILLED WHILE TRYING AUTO

Evereaux, France, June 19.—The Italian automobilist Zuccarelli was killed outright today and his mechanician Fanelli was mortally injured, while they were trying out a machine for the French Automobile club grand prix contest in July.

The accident occurred at Marelly, fifteen miles from here. Zuccarelli was speeding at a hundred miles, when a horse and cart emerged from a sunken road. The automobile drove right through the obstruction but was overturned, pinning the occupants beneath. Zuccarelli won the grand prix for light automobiles in Sicily in November, 1912. He had only recently returned from the United States.

Caught Between Cars.

Washington, June 19.—Representative H. Garland Dupre, of Louisiana, and James R. Murphy, a commerce court deputy marshal, were caught between two streets cars here today as they were crossing a street arm in arm. Representative Dupre escaped with a slight scalp wound and bruises but Murphy had his right foot crushed so that it had to be amputated. The motormen and conductors of the cars were arrested.

Yeggmen Rob Postoffice.

Charlotte, N. C., June 19.—Yeggmen at an early hour this morning forced an entrance into the north Charlotte postoffice and blew open the safe with a charge of nitroglycerin. The were frightened away, however, and only secured $35 in cash that was in the safe, leaving approximately $1,000 in stamps together with the money order book untouched. There is no clue to the robbers.

SUBMARINES BIG AS BATTLESHIPS FOR FUTURE

Will the submarine eventually put the super-dreadnaught out of business? This question is a live topic just now for two reasons. The first is the decision of congress to build much larger undersea fighters. The second is the success of the Benton in netting a new record for staying under water at Long Beach, Cal. Although the pioneer in submarine navigation, the american navy has been outstripped by European engineers in the matter of size, speed and offensive power of underwater craft. The navy department designers now are planning much larger and more formidable vessels of this type, and some of them predict the development of the submarine into a giant battleship that will replace dreadnaughts in the first line of defense. They even contend these vessels would be able to disappear beneath the surface of the sea to escape a return fire after discharging their great 12-inch rifles at an enemy. The submarine Benton is a new type invented by John M. Gage. The previous record for submarine submergence was made jointly by the Octopus and the Lake of Newport in May, 19..., when the two undersea craft stayed down for exactly twenty-four hours and came up with their crews elated. There had been twenty-three of them in the submarines, and they stood the experience with no signs of fear. It was a new record for sustained life under the sea. Before that the record had been that established by the Fulton at New Suffork, N. Y., in 1902, when the persons on board were down for seventeen hours. Later in the same year a party on the Fulton lived under sea for twelve hours at the torpedo station.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE, SAVANNAH GIRL MAY DIE

Heavy Touring Car Runs Over Miss Mary Moore, Probably Injuring Her Fatally.

Savannah, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Within a block of her room in the Young Woman's Christian association building, Miss Mary Moore, a stenographer for the Savannah Directory Publishing company, was run down and probably fatally injured by an automobile early tonight.

Miss Moore was crossing Drayton street at the Chatham county courthouse when a big touring car, driven by John Rivers, a negro chauffeur, and containing several young women, ran her down.

Both wheels of the heavy machine passed over her body.

The injured stenographer was rushed to the Savannah hospital by the chief of police in his automobile. She is injured internally. Rivers was arrested and is held without bail.

A Business Man's Talk.

(Henry B. Joy, in Leslie's.)

Business sadly needs some constructive advocates. The attitude of the government toward industrial evolution is faced by the railroads about conditions which require our most serious consideration.

The public press and public opinion have enabled the railroads, through the medium of the interstate commerce laws, to do what they could not do for themselves by mutual agreements—namely, prevent wealth destroying rate wars and maintain published and stable rates that are for the benefit of all. Even now they are only able to do it by means of their railroad traffic associations which are actually conspiracies contrary to law if anything is, but the business of railroads can be carried on in no other way, and these eminently proper methods go on completely sanctioned by governmental authority.

Does the consumer wish to restore the palmiest days of the black flag, and skull and crossbones flying at the mastheads of the conflicting railroad interests? No, my one!

Why not then let the business men of America be allowed, through associations local and national, to try and eliminate or minimize "unfair competition?"

Business men thoroughly understanding the intricacies of their respective businesses can surely accomplish the largest beneficial results with the least harm.

Let us broaden our present prejudiced vision a little, and allow—yes, even encourage, business men to organize into associations with broader liberties, to improve their own business relations with each other and with their patrons, the consumers, by whose good will they succeed.

The business interests of this great nation cannot to the best advantage be carried on by litigation. Decisions must be had promptly, or progress is indeed slow. They must be broad and not specific, and must apply to all alike.

It is nearly a quarter of a century since the passage of the Sherman act, and its most elementary determinations as affecting every business are as yet uncertain and unknown.

By a permanent commission for trade and industry, litigation and uncertainty could be minimized. Broad, sound principles for fostering national and international commerce and industry would become established, such as could not be covered in a century of individual and specific litigation.

A specific law prohibiting the sale of goods at less than cost is obviously absurd. Business exigencies occasionally require it. Such laws do no good, but only harm. An excess production of last year's bonnets would necessarily require a slaughter sale or a fire.

We cannot overturn the natural laws of business without suffering and disaster.

British Merchant Ships Equipped With Guns.

(From the July Popular Mechanics Magazine.)

The first British merchant ship to carry guns and ammunition on board in time of peace left Southampton recently for a South American port. The vessel was the steamship Aragon, of 10,000 tons, and she had among her crew sufficient officers and men of the Royal Naval reserve to work her armament, should it be needed. Guns are also to be mounted on other merchant ships, the Amazon being the second vessel to be so equipped. The Aragon carries two 4.7-inch guns.

MEADE TAKES PUNCH AT ALDERMAN NUTTING

Council Chamber Scene of Encounter Between Constitution Man and City Father.

James W. Meade, city hall reporter of The Constitution, and Alderman James R. Nutting, of the fourth ward, engaged in a fist fight in the council chamber yesterday afternoon, just a few minutes before council met.

The trouble started when Alderman Nutting charged Meade with printing misstatements in the report of the Woodward-Nutting clash in one of the committee rooms yesterday afternoon.

Witnesses say that Alderman Nutting loudly and persistently declared that the reporter had not told the entire truth; that Meade walked away to avoid trouble, and that the alderman followed him with fist doubled. The reporter then hit the alderman twice, one blow cutting a gash on the nose, and the other on the side of the face.

Alderman Nutting claims that he had no idea of attacking Meade, and that when he was struck he was taken by surprise.

City Marshal Fuller took charge of Meade, and Councilman Colcord and Alderman Smith held Alderman Nutting aside. He returned after the roll had adjourned and while the aldermanic board was in session.

The report objected to by Alderman Nutting concerned a clash he had with Mayor Woodward. On the floor of council Monday afternoon, he intimated that Mayor Woodward was influenced by the Georgia Railway and Power company to oppose the the creation of an electric plant, primarily. When Mayor Woodward demanded of Alderman Nutting the source of his information he replied that several persons told him so. Mayor Woodward frankly told the alderman that the statements were untrue.

Mayor Pro Tem. Warren stated after the difficulty in the council chamber that no action was likely to be taken against either participant because the fight occurred before council convened.

Will E. Dickens.

The body of Will E. Dickens, aged 40, of 500 South Moreland avenue, who died yesterday at a local sanitarium, was taken to the private chapel of P. J. Bloomfield company to await final arrangements. Mr. Dickens is survived by his wife, his mother, Mrs. W. B. Dickens, and a brother, A. V. Dickens.

Are We Going Crazy?

(From Leslie's.)

Crazy! Eminent scientists express alarm over the rapid increase of the demented. The care of lunatics, idiots and feeble minded is getting to be a heavy burden in all our states. The worst of it is that the burden is not diminishing. Scientific minds are endeavoring to account for this unfortunate condition of affairs. Some explain it by the present tendencies toward extravagance, high living and licentiousness. It is said that we live in an age of profligacy. It is not surprising that it is also an age of unreason and unbelief, with a popular demand for quacks to the quack remedies that glib-tongued demagogues are suggesting in the interests of "the dear people." Is this not a subject for reflection by sober-minded persons? Was there ever an age in which more thoughtfulness and conservatism was required? Was there ever a time when a revival of faith in God and man was more necessary? The loudest call of the present day is for a more unselfish consecration to the higher, nobler and better things of life. But let the people rule!

Sun Canopy for the Horse.

Instead of the old straw hat with ear holes, a Kansas farmer has provided his buggy horse with a canopy which protects the flanks, as well as the head of the animal. The canopy, which is provided with a fringe to discourage the flies, is attached to the shafts by four metal supports. A picture of this unusual equipage appears in the July Popular Mechanics Magazine.

THOMAS M. NORWOOD CALLED BY DEATH

read from the bench the day he laid aside his judicial robe.

Author of Many Works.

Judge Norwood was the author of "Flutocracy, or American White Slavery," a novel published in 1888; "Mother Goose Carved by a Commentator," a serio comic commentary, and "Patriotism, Democracy or Empire, a Satire." Literature ever had a charm for him. Surrounded by those delightful companions and friends, his books, his pen was not idle during the last years of his life until his final sickness. He devoted the well earned leisure of a green old age in the peaceful retirement of "Harrock Hall" to the literary pursuits so congenial to him.

When he was stricken Judge Norwood was working on a book which he expected to make his literary masterpiece. He put in all of his spare hours on the work and expected to live to finish it. Several interruptions came during the spring. He was ill a few weeks. Then early in April came the invitation to deliver the memorial day address for the confederate veterans. He prepared an elaborate address for that occasion, but when the night arrived he was too ill to appear and deliver it so the paper was read in part from Judge Norwood's manuscript.

Samuel R. Branch.

The funeral of Samuel R. Branch, aged 63, of 181 West Fair street, who died Wednesday, will be held at 10 o'clock today at Patterson's chapel, Rev. Lindsay Flurry will officiate and the interment will be at West View.

ALDERMANIC BOARD ACCEPTS PROPOSAL

Another Fight in Council Will Come Over Proposed $260,000 Crematory Contract. Mayor Will Veto.

The proposal of the New York Destructor company to complete the crematory for $260,000 under a new contract, but which Mayor James G Woodward says is in conflict with the contract of June 2, 1912, and which was invalidated by the supreme court, was approved by the aldermanic board yesterday afternoon.

The board voted almost unanimously to approve the proposal. Alderman J. M. Harwell, of the first ward, made a stirring appeal to the board to put aside all political enmity, draw up another proposal—one which would not conflict with the supreme court ruling—and submit it to the mayor.

"I don't blame the mayor for not approving the proposal," Alderman Harwell declared. "The highest court in Georgia has decided, and unless council follows out the decree the crematory wrangle will be dragged through the courts again.

"If council will draw up a contract and eliminate all parts of the old contract and submit it to the mayor, I'll guarantee that within two hours he will approve and sign it. If not you are going to invite a tussle, and you all know the mayor is a good tussler."

When the board voted to approve the proposal, Alderman Harwell gave notice to reconsider at the next meeting two weeks hence.

Precipitates Another Fight.

The action of the board in approving the proposal over the avowed disapproval of Mayor Woodward precipitates another fight in council, possibly in the courts. Alderman Harwell's action in asking for a reconsideration of the matter at the next session of the board means that it will be delayed at least two weeks longer. The proposal already has the approval of council, but has not yet reached Mayor Woodward through council channels.

"I don't approve the proposal, because there are some things in it which conflicts with the supreme court decision," Mayor Woodward said. "I am enjoined from participating in any action in conflict with the old contract, and council knows that I cannot do anything under the conditions.

"My first fight against the crematory was because I believed the people of Atlanta were paying too much money for the plant. I still believe that we are paying too much, but inasmuch as the company has cut off some of the price and the crematory is nearly complete I stand in the position of being in favor of anything that will hasten the end of the controversy and hastening the city in the possession of the property."

Mayor Woodward will veto the action of council and the aldermanic board. However, the matter must come up again in two weeks under Alderman Harwell's motion to reconsider before it goes to the mayor. It will be held up two weeks longer after it reaches the mayor for approval.

The Clauses Objected To.

What Mayor Woodward specifically and emphatically objects to in the proposal are clauses which he construes to be the same as those in the old contract and which the supreme court has enjoined the city and the destructor company from carrying out.

Mayor Woodward intimated rather strongly that he will gladly approve the proposal or contract if council will show a disposition to absolutely disregard the old contract and enter into a new one in conformity with the court's mandate.

Woman Who Killed Doctor and Self Victim of Delusions, Say Physicians

DR. GUY O. BRINKLEY.

MRS. KATHERINE L. WHISNANT.

SCENE OF TRAGEDY.

Savannah, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—That Mrs. Katherine L. Whisnant, nee Katie Kittles, who shot and killed Dr. Guy O. Brinkley, and then killed herself in the skin specialist's office Monday, was a sufferer from delusional insanity and melancholia is the declaration of a number of Savannah physicians, who treated the young woman from time to time.

They are certain that she had no real grievance against the doctor, and that she knew her only in a professional way.

That the act was premeditated, however, has been demonstrated by the coroner, who says, however, that there is no question that the attack with the magazine gun on Dr. Brinkley was entirely unexpected.

That the first shot fired by the young woman went through her handbag in which she carried the automatic pistol is certain. Dr. Eighton says this bullet did not hit the doctor, although the second went through his neck. His death wounds were received after he had run through hallways, a kitchen, across a porch and back into his office.

The woman who accompanied Mrs. Whisnant to Dr. Brinkley's office can throw no light on the double tragedy. She is a nurse and went to the office in that capacity with Mrs. Whisnant. She did not have the slightest intimation of what was going to happen.

MANAGERS AND OWNERS TO MEET HERE IN 1915

After a hot fight on the floor of the Building Managers and Owners' convention in Cincinnati the local Building Managers and Owners, who had organized only a few weeks prior to the convention for the immediate purpose of bringing the convention to Atlanta in 1914, succeeded in landing the convention for 1915.

They just missed bringing it to Atlanta next year by a "gnat's heel," so to speak. As soon as the question of the next meeting place was brought up C. F. Wilkinson, L. S. Gill, W. A. Jones, Jesse Draper and A. V. Cates, representatives of Atlanta, were on the floor. The 1913 convention was lost rather by graceful acknowledgement of first claim than by default. In Duluth, the busy little Minnesota burg, had had an eye on the gathering long before the Atlanta men organized. So Atlanta withdrew her invitation in favor of Duluth upon condition that the Building Owners and Managers come to Atlanta the following year.

This convention probably represents more capital than any other convention that meets with the exception of the Bankers' association.

POLICE BOARD REGRETS DEATH OF K. S. FOSTER

A committee selected from the board of police commissioners has adopted the following resolutions regarding the recent death of Sergeant K. S. Foster, attached to the police mounted squad:

CAPTAIN ISAACS BACK IN SERVICE AS MAJOR

Adolph McAllister Isaacs, of Macon, who was, until a few months ago, quartermaster of the Second regiment, has re-entered the military service of the state with the rank of major. His appointment was announced by Adjutant General Van Holt Nash yesterday.

As quartermaster, Major Isaacs went out of office when the colonel of his regiment, Walter Harris, was promoted to be brigadier general. He was there by retired temporarily from the military service. As he is one of the most experienced military men in the state, his re-entrance in the National Guard will be greeted with general approval.

Other military appointments were: Lieutenant M. J. Ellis, quartermaster of second regiment, to rank as captain; Second Lieutenant A. S. Burton, Company M, second regiment, Forsyth, promoted to first lieutenant, vice O. H. B. Bloodworth, who recently was advanced to the captaincy.

MERCURY TO STAY AROUND THE 90'S

The highest temperature on Thursday was only 89 degrees, or 7 points lower than the maximum for the past two days, and this is expected to be about the temperature today, according to the local forecaster.

Local thundershowers throughout the state may have the effect of cooling off various parts and making the temperature even lower than that generally predicted.

WOULD PUT THE LID ON ALL FREAK BILLS

Hardeman, of Jefferson, Speakership Candidate, Would Keep House Down to Business.

Representative R. N. Hardeman, of Jefferson county, arrived in the city yesterday, making the second of the candidates for speaker of the house to reach the field of action. W. H. Burwell, of Hancock, had preceeded him, having registered at the Kimball House on Wednesday. Both will remain in the city until the legislature meets.

Mr. Hardeman disclosed Thursday that he was in the race to the finish. He was not of the kind of which quitters are made, he said. He is very hopeful that this session of the legislature will transact some important business for the state.

"I think it is quite settled now that there will be no factionalism in this legislature," he said, "but we shall have to work to keep down freak bills and to keep the house concentrated on really vital legislation.

"The first question that we will have to handle, of course, will be the financial problem and the matter of tax revision made necessary by it. Appropriations will have to be kept strictly within the revenue.

"It shall be my especial care to see that the time of the house is not wasted with freak bills and bills of the sensational sort. There are always a lot of new members in every legislature who are burning with a desire to distinguish themselves and who rush forward with all kinds of freak measures for the publicity that they get out of them. A great deal of time is wasted over matters of that sort. What we want to do is to keep the house confined to real business."

RECKLESS DRIVING CASE IS DISMISSED AGAINST SIMMONS

The case of reckless driving of an automobile was dismissed against M. M. Simmons, district superintendent of the Southern Bell Telephone company, who ran down Eugenia Green at Barnett and Ponce de Leon avenue Monday night, when it was tried in recorder's court yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

A large number of witnesses appeared before the recorder. All testified that the accident was unavoidable. Even the mother of the girl victim, who was a witness to the occurrence, exonerated Mr. Simmons of blame. The child is still in St. Joseph's infirmary with a broken leg, but is rapidly recovering.

GOVERNMENT CHEMISTS PRAISE ATLANTA WATER

Declare It Is Not Only Pure But Contains Minerals That Are Healthful.

The government's department of chemistry has submitted to Major L. F. Garrard, quartermaster of the Seventeenth infantry at Fort McPherson, a report of a careful analysis of water supplied by the city for drinking purposes.

The report declared that the water is not only absolutely pure and wholesome, but that it contains minerals that are healthful.

As the result of the investigation of the government chemists, Major Garrard opened negotiations with General Manager Zode Smith, of the water department, to extend the water system to the fort for the purpose of supplying the soldiers. Wednesday the water board acquiesced in the request of the government to extend the water main to the fort, and when council met yesterday afternoon it authorized the board to enter into a contract.

The government will stand part of the expense of the extension and material to be used in the work to the extent of $1,004.

Council was urged to hasten the approval of the contract for the reason that the government's fiscal year ends in June, and the constitution requires that all contracts be made within the same year negotiations are carried on.

General Manager Smith says that he believes the report of the government chemists will have great weight in increasing the garrison at the fort.

At the psychological moment, when the mercury leans toward the "oldest citizen's" record for summer heat, the coolest-looking canvas Oxfords are being unboxed in our Men's Shoe Department.

There's nothing wilted-looking about these—not even the strings; they're as crisp and smart as a lettuce leaf on ice.

Your pair of feet couldn't be finer shod than in your size in these; and this is the day your size is here for sure.

This is the weather that convinces you of the value of such an asset to your summer plans.

And they are

Such a Sale As

The "Blue Tag" Furniture Sale

Would Not Be Possible in Every Store

In the first place, there are very, very few stores in the United States that carry such a comprehensive stock of furniture. Nor is this simply an opinion based on our own observation—people who travel much tell us the same.

Again, every store would not have the hardihood to go at prices in any such fashion as we have.

Cut Prices for The "Blue Tag" Furniture Sale

For we have cut them with a beautiful disregard for worth of the furniture.

And the cut prices are so general!

They have touched simple little chairs and tables, where the saving of a dollar amounts to a very healthy percentage, and they have struck those great handsome dining room and bedroom sets, where the saving of several hundreds of dollars do not amount to so great a percentage as that dollar on the chair.

In every instance, however, the saving is so great that a homekeeper in need of furniture can ill afford to miss it!

Indeed, opportunity is knocking with great force at the door of every such home!

"Vudorize" Your Porch

There is one best porch shade. It is the Vudor. It has patented features that no other shade can claim, withal it costs no more than the nameless kinds. And what a comfort a porch shade is when the sun is cutting such capers!

A telephone call will bring a man to measure your porch for a Vudor. We are exclusive agents for it in Atlanta.

THE CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE.

The annual preliminary howl about "legislative extravagance" is beginning to tear the innocent empyream.

The general assembly is on a dozen journalistic griddles. Editors are running the gamut from righteous wrath to searching satire about the legislative habit of appropriating more than the state has in the treasury, or will have when the appropriations fall due.

Fine business, gentlemen! But you're hitting everything except the bull's eye.

What you need to score, and what the people of Georgia are demanding that you score, is not legislative extravagance, but legislative timidity.

We make the statement deliberately:

The legislature ought to appropriate not less but more money. Our educational and eleemosynary institutions are lean in the flanks, they are threatened with paralysis because of financial malnutrition.

Why are we disgraced by the recurring spectacle of spending more than we receive?

For the simple reason that Georgia operates under a tax system that is half a century behind the times, that lets individuals and counties give what they please instead of what they ought, and that, if left unremedied, is going to eventually scotch progress in this state.

There's plenty of money in Georgia. This commonwealth is, proportionately, one of the richest in the country. The potential asset of the state road alone is almost priceless. To use a supposititious argument, if that property were sold—as it never will be—the proceeds would clear the state's debt and leave a huge balance. Every industry, every business is flourishing. Per capita wealth is as high here as elsewhere. The increase in every class of values is the despair of other states. Georgia is a storehouse of wealth.

Why, then, are we fronted by the disreputable condition of a state annually overdrawing its allowance? Because counties of equal wealth side by side return taxes with a radical inequality. Because individuals do the same thing. Because we pass around the hat instead of taking up a fee at the door.

How many million dollars a year this indefensible system loses Georgia there is no way of telling. But it is responsible for our present troubles. And it is not going to recover spontaneously. The legislature must take the initiative, and the people must get in behind and stay in behind the legislature.

Sentiment for tax revision is statewide. It is evident that the courageous ones who have for years been fighting for it will this session press the battle hard.

If Georgia wants to see its institutions relieved of annual mendicancy; if it wants to see the state's fiscal system put on a sound basis; if it wants to see school teachers paid promptly and not compelled to shylock their meager pittances—

The people must get busy with the legislature. The press can materialize relief if they shoot at the bull's eye. And the bull's eye is not legislative extravagance, but legislative parsimony due to our backwoods and unequal tax system.

MORE POWER TO TOM LOYLESS.

Tom Loyless, editor of The Augusta Chronicle, has a mallet cut for the calamity howlers. They got it between the eyes every time a head shows. A recent editorial in The Chronicle is an illustration. Mr. Loyless points out that more than $6,300,000 of private and public work is actually under way in and around Augusta. There is no head-in-the-sand stupidity about Mr. Loyless' optimism. He admits that money is a little tight in Augusta, as it is everywhere else. But he says, and substantiates his assertions with figures, that there is less evidence of money pinch in Georgia than elsewhere; that the promise of the harvests is so prodigious that we are assured a magnificent fall and winter; and that everywhere merchants are reporting better trade than for the corresponding months of last year.

More power to Loyless. States and cities need the robust sanity of such men as he. He fights "glooms" with facts. He combats financial billousness with the medicine of statistics. He chases nightmares by telling the simple truth.

He's right, too. There's nothing whatever the matter with Georgia, as there is nothing the matter with Augusta. It is chiefly the little fellows who are indulging in the luxury of doleful prediction. The big men, who have most to lose, and who are in a position to know, invariably see a clear right-of-way for prosperity.

Present indications are that Georgia will raise a good cotton crop; that she will receive a good price for it; that she will grow more corn than ever; that she will get a good price for that; better than all else, more prudent economy is being practiced by the farmers of the state.

There is bound to be a little hesitation until, as Mr. Loyless says, "congress gets sick or goes home." With that uncertainty out of the way, business will boom as it has not since 1906. If we could plant a Tom Loyless in every blessed county in Georgia the grouch squad would all be buried without benefit of clergy.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE.

A recent issue of the "Journal of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology" contains a wretchedly garbled editorial statement of the notorious Ollie Taylor fake. This periodical stands in the front rank of American law journals. Many lawyers and sociological experts accept its statements as gospel truth. Yet it bitingly observes that "the benevolent colony of Georgia has degenerated," all because of the Ollie Taylor case, and bolsters up its melancholy excoriation of the state with this alleged quotation from the supreme court decision in that instance:

"'Where a minor under age of 16 is convicted of a misdemeanor . . . the act of the legislature confers on the presiding judge a discretion to send him to the chaingang, or to the industrial farm, but if he is sent to the industrial farm, or other similar institution, the legislature has declared that such a sentence shall be for and during the minority of such person. . . . The courts were not given any discretion or authority . . . to send a minor to the industrial farm for a less time than above mentioned, or to discharge him before his reaching majority, on a writ of habeas corpus.'"

More in surprise than resentment, we ask: If a law periodical can keep itself so ill-informed, what can be expected of the lay press? In quoting the Georgia law, only a part of the statutes bearing upon the sentence of boy criminals to the reformatory is given. The whole law would have presented the matter entirely differently. Judge Pendleton, who issued the Ollie Taylor decision from which appeal was taken, has specifically stated that the law covering these cases does not sentence the offender to industrial farms or reformatories for the entire term of their minority. The sentence is in every case an indeterminate one. The authorities of industrial farms and reformatories are empowered to liberate inmates the day following their sentence if, in their opinion, these inmates give evidence of having become good citizens. Certainly, the courts have no power to impose sentence "for less time than above mentioned (the attainment of majority) or to discharge him before his reaching majority." If they did, that would mean that fixed, inflexible sentences were imposed, as on calloused criminals; It would mean, too, that a court that knew nothing about a boy's behavior, his amenability to discipline and uplifting influences, would be the tribunal instead of the authorities living constantly with the delinquent and capacitated to pass intelligent judgment.

To have given Ollie Taylor an inflexible sentence along with confirmed criminals would have been to have condemned him to a life of criminality. To liberate him with his criminal tendencies still uncorrected would be to do the same thing. As it is now, the state is working to save the boy and to save itself. It is a great pity that such molders of opinion as the journal we have quoted should not set its contemporaries an example of more accurate reporting.

Where Swedenborg Was Buried.

(From The Westminster Gazette.)

The old Swedish Lutheran church, whose churchyard the county council covets for an open space, is situated in a dingy little square of St. George's-in-the-East, not far from the spot where the Danish church once stood. It is an early Georgian structure of brick, built about 1728, and has some frappant architectural features of that prosaic period. The spire takes the form of a quaint little lantern tower, from which, when Wapping was a marshy waste, the pastor could spy Scandinavian ships coming up the river and calculate next Sunday's congregation. Emanuel Swedenborg, the famous mystic, was buried beneath the altar, but his remains were removed to Sweden some years ago when this interesting old edifice was closed, having been deprived of a flock by the substitution of steamers for sailing ships.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON

The Famous Prose Poet

THE FITNESS OF THINGS

"Here we are, knee deep in June," remarked the retired merchant, "and I have the worst cold I've had in years. You can tell when I'm coming half a mile away, I do so much coughing and wheezing. There's something peculiarly exasperating about a cold at this season."

"That's because there's no sense in having a cold in the warm weather," said the hotelkeeper. "There's some satisfaction in being bunged up with a cold in January or March, for you know you are in line with the aristocracy. All the elite have colds then, and the man who doesn't do his share of the coughing feels as cheap as the one who wears a straw hat on St. Patrick's day. You might as well be dead as out of fashion, dogone it, and that's true in the matter of diseases as in other things.

"I can remember when Bright's disease was all the rage. All our best families took it up, and few really refined and self-respecting people died of anything else. Nearly every story in the newspapers wound up with an ad for some remedy for Bright's disease, and the man who had to worry along with a common stomach or liver complaint felt that he was out of the swim altogether. That man Bright must have made a tremendous fortune in royalties before his disease went out of favor. It was a good satisfactory disease to have, as most of the remedies prescribed for it were easy to take. When I had it I used to buy a certain remedy that was put up in big black bottle, and I became so infatuated with that remedy that I kept on taking it long after the disease was banished. It was an excellent medicine, I must admit that the patient had a thundering taste in his mouth the morning after taking it.

"Well, Bright's celebrated family disease was a best seller for several years, and then appendicitis became the fad, and its popularity still hangs on. It's a fool fashion, like pointed shoes or coat shirts. I never could see how it managed to become a favorite. When you have the appendicitis you don't go to the drug store and take your pick of eight or ten stimulating medicines. No, sir, doggone it, you have to go to the surgeon, and he spread-eagles you on his operating table and goes through your insides with a pair of shears, pausing every minute to collect $100. I suppose it's popular because it costs so much. This is an age of extravagance, and we can't be happy unless we are going into debt. That man Rockefeller, who mortgages his automobile to have an operation for appendicitis, but if he doesn't do it he'll be ostracized by the best society.

"You've got to be in fashion if you want to do business in this country. When appendicitis is the rage, it doesn't do to have a simple case of colic and cure it yourself with three fingers of painkiller. You've got to go to the shambles with the rest of the boys and have your works eviscerated.

"Last summer I had the mumps. It isn't often that an old man has the mumps, but it does happen now and then, and I was the fall guy that time. My head was swelled up until it looked like Zeppelin's airship and the way it ached was a sin. People must have seen how I was suffering, for I shed pale green tears all day long, yet there was nothing in that ribald laughter and untimely jests. Not a doggone word of sympathy did I get from first to last. People would come into this hotel, and when they saw the head I was carrying around they just doubled up like jackknives and laughed until their false teeth fell out. There's nothing amusing in the mumps, but it's properly a children's disease, and when a grown man gets mixed up with it he looks ridiculous. It's all a matter of custom and fashion.

"I suppose that if a citizen happened to die of sunstroke on Christmas day his fellow townsmen would be too convulsed with merriment to take their presents down from the Christmas tree."

FORGET

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

If you want to learn something very valuable to you today, learn how to Forget.

There is not a man or woman in the world that does not remember too much. A mind adulterated with Worry, Revenge, Bitterness, Unkindness and the like immediately shrinks in power.

The things that you cannot happily remember—Forget.

If you make a mistake—Forget it—but remember to profit from it. If someone unjustly attacks you—Forget it—by remembering to return a kindness. If something worries you—Forget it. The antidote for Worry is Work. If you hear unpleasant things—Forget them. If you fail in an enterprise that you expected to win—Forget it—and start all over again.

The best way to forget a Mistake is to never make it again. The best way to forget a Wrong is to forgive the one who did it.

If important details pile up before you, obstructing the bigger things in the work of your day, push them aside and—Forget them. The negative forces of life always will remain. Your cue is to meet them—master them—pass them—and then—Forget them in Positive Doing. Concentrate with force and precision upon the Essential and Important.

Forget everything that does not contribute to your Efficiency and Happiness.

Seeking "Rest."

(From The Washington Star.)

The engines are smoking and steaming,
The cinders fly hot through the air,
The whistles are fitfully screaming,
And life seems a burden of care;
You eat what you really don't care for,
In vain for amusement you roam,
You wonder just what you are there for,
As you wistfully think of your home.

There's a spot that is shady and quiet;
You turn on the fan for a breeze;
No cabmen are raising a riot;
You can dress pretty much as you please.
As you turn to the porch or the ballroom,
In the hills, or beside the salt foam,
You'll be missing your house or your hall room
As you hum the old tune "Home, Sweet Home."

The World's Mysteries

WHO CUT OFF JENKINS' EAR?

Probably the most unique cause that ever contributed to the starting of a war between two countries was that of Jenkins' ear. Because Jenkins asserted that the Spaniards had cut off one of his ears, and when he remonstrated they handed it to him with the remark, "Carry that to your king; we would do the same to him," the English took up arms against Spain and the war that followed was called "The War of Jenkins' Ear."

In the beginning of the eighteenth century Spain held, and in her narrow policy, endeavored to keep a monopoly of the trade with her new world colonies, and in their treaty with England her right was jealously guarded. England admitted the claim legal, but as a matter of practice it was constantly evaded, and a large illicit traffic was carried on with these colonies.

Spain, to prevent this, claimed the right to search all English vessels sailing near Spanish ports, and finally even upon the high seas, but her guardship often conducted the search with such insolence that the merchants became furious, and the English sailors almost demanded combat.

The English people finally became indignant against the severity used in exercising the right of search, and a strong pressure was brought to bear upon the Premier, Sir Robert Walpole, to declare war with Spain. The press and the disturbing forces fomented the indignation of the people in every possible way. English sailors, returning from captivity, told stories of very cruel treatment, specimens of the food furnished them were exhibited, and petitions, complaining of Spanish outrages, were sent to parliament.

Finally the narration of Captain Robert Jenkins, of a grievance suffered seven years before, wrought up the people to frensy, and Walpole was obliged to yield. On the 16th of March, 1738, the house of commons ordered that Captain Robert Jenkins should appear before them and tell his story. He said that in April, 1731, while homeward bound with a cargo from Jamaica, when in Havana, his ship was boarded by a Spanish guardship and searched. No contraband being discovered, he was threatened with death if he did not disclose his hidden treasure.

At Captain Jenkins' refusal he was struck with a piece of cutlass which severed one of his ears from his head, and was strung up to the yardarm and was cut down before he was quite exhausted. When this extorted no confession, the injured ear was torn from his head and was flung in his face with the taunt, "Carry that to your king; we would do the same to him."

When Jenkins appeared before the house he exhibited this ear, that he always carried with him, wrapped in cotton. When asked concerning his feelings during the ordeal, he replied that "he had commended his soul to God and his pity to his country."

The whole country rung with fire. "Jenkins' ear" and Jenkins' patriotic trust in his country were watchwords that echoed and re-echoed throughout the land.

In the beginning of the affair much doubt about the story, but it answered its purpose. Burke called it, in "A Regicide Peace," "the fable of Jenkins' ear." Walpole's biographer said it was a "ridiculous story." Carlisle wrote: "The case of Jenkins is a singular thing." Pope wrote: "The Spaniards own they did a waggish thing,
Who crept our ears and sent them to the king."

Glover and Johnson both referred to it. Tindal said: "Jenkins lost his ear, or part of his ear, on another occasion and pretended it had been cut off by the 'Guarda costa.'" "Lost it in the Pillory," said others. Finally, according to Horace Walpole, when Jenkins died it was found that his ear had not been cut off at all. But whatever was the real truth of the matter, the result was war between England and Spain.

The barbarous Spaniard, Fandino, who Jenkins claimed had severed his ear, was himself captured after a desperate resistance, by Captain Thomas Frankland, on June 4, 1742, and sent a prisoner to England.

ORIGINALITY.

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

Originality consists of doing things differently.

Sometimes originality is a good thing. The man who got tired of wearing pink silk trousers and brocaded coats and who invented the plain but durable pants of modern times, relieved man of a crushing burden, thus allowing womankind to assume it. The Novelist who first wrote a story in which the heroine did not swim through 800 pages of sad, pensive and happy tears, without the aid of a life preserver, was a benefactor to humanity. So was the man who built a square house without excrescences in the late eighties, and thus taught the world that it was not necessary, in the interests of art, to build a house which looked as if it might have been collected and arranged by a tornado on its passage through a dozen states.

Even today originality is a great blessing. Every new form of rag time and high voltage dancing which is put out enables the world to drop the last affliction.

Originality, however, is usually indulged in to excess. It is now necessary for every one to be original and as the supply of sensible new things is scanty, we are getting some terrible results. Originality in dress is causing thousands of runaways on our streets each year. Originality in musical comedy has reached a point where Adam and Eve would blush and retire if they had box seats. Originality in art has reached the final or Cubist stage. Originality in drama has reached a point which compels nine lawyers to work nights in order to think up a new and startling reason for the star's divorce, just before the fall season begins.

We would do better with less originality in these things and more in others. A politician who would vote against his own interests, a merchant who would apologize publicly for having stretched the truth in an advertisement, a theater manager who would cut out a decayed spot in his play because it drew such crowds in their own injury, and a mayor who would admit that there was gambling in his city and that if he had more sense he could stop it, would all display originality of a dazzlingly valuable sort.

Mongolian Lamas.

(From The National Geographic Magazine.)

Every third man in Mongolia is a lama. Some live in tents, with and on their relatives, while others live in the temples. The temple lamas are of the lower type; they are coarse and filthy and much inferior both morally and physically to the tent lamas. They are not unlike those sometimes seen by travelers in the Lama Temple at Pekin, China. The lamas living in tents among the people are of a better class and are much respected and looked up to all over Mongolia.

Sume, which consists of the two temples and their outbuildings, forms one of the largest and most important lamaseries in outer Mongolia. There are about 2,000 lamas living here, some quite young, as Sume is an important theological school. This lamasery, or monastery, is a town in itself and very interesting. Lamas may be seen here of all ages and degrees. On the tops and corners of the temples are prayer wheels covered with gold leaf; these contain long prayers written on rolls of script, and the wheels revolve in the wind.

Doesn't Agree With White's Opinions About Cattle

E. B. Anderson, a banker of Commerce, Ga., takes issue with W. H. White, Jr., of Atlanta, in the latter's views, as expressed in The Constitution, with regard to the cattle industry.

Mr. White maintained that the bankers, by including cattle with cotton as collateral for credit, could help break the one-crop system.

In a communication to The Constitution, Mr. Anderson expresses very fervent doubt on this score.

Nature's Garden Spot.

Editor Constitution: I have been in touch with your editorial campaign for reduction of cotton crop and for the planting of more corn and oats and home supplies, hogs and cows.

The price of cotton seed meal and cotton seed hulls is now the highest in years. Further, at the very time of harvesting a large oat crop in Georgia, the price has advanced and there is now power, if we care, to supply the demand for feed stuffs. Corn is bringing a dollar per bushel. It is the easiest product raised.

I am not a farmer myself, though I was raised on a farm, but I am satisfied that our section will always be hampered as long as we plant all our lands in cotton and send the money we get out of the cotton to the west for meat and supplies. I am convinced that it is often impossible to supply the demand for corn and feed stuffs and meat.

I shall be very glad if you will agitate the subject to the extent that our people can see it to their interest to diversify their crops. Our lands will raise anything. We have the garden spot of the earth, as we believe, and the only thing that retards our progress is the sending of money, made out of our cotton, to the west for stuff that we could just as easily raise at home. I commend what The Constitution is doing, and I trust that it may be brought more fully to public attention.

JULE FELTON.

Montezuma, Ga., June 17, 1913.

Will Benefit the State.

Editor Constitution: I have read with a great deal of interest the articles and editorials that have lately appeared in your paper relating to the methods now in vogue among the farmers of this state in planting their land in cotton and not diversifying their crops and producing supplies for home use, which would tend to improve their land.

I have been thinking and talking about this matter for several years, and am satisfied that it is one thing that is holding back the farmers of our state. The average farmer in this section plants from 50 to 75 per cent of his land in cotton and the balance in a few small crops for home use, when he should plant from 20 to 40 per cent of his land in cotton to meet the expense of running his farm, and the other 75 or 80 per cent should be planted in diversified crops for his home use.

I am, indeed, glad to know that The Constitution is bringing this matter to public attention, and I feel sure that the work will prove a lasting benefit to the farmers of our state. WM. TATE HOLLAND.

Coal Smoke and Health.

The medical officer of health for Manchester, England, presents evidence to show that the working life of the people of that city is shortened ten years by the acids in smoke and the carbon particles which invade the lungs. Surgeon J. W. Stoner, of the United States public health service, traces a connection between the smoky atmosphere and the drinking habits of the people. Women living in sunless, gloomy homes, attired in somber clothes, breathing a smoke filled atmosphere are prone to be irritable, to scold and whip their children and to nag their husbands who flee to the saloon for solace and relief. Surgeon Stoner is also of the opinion that children reared in a depressing atmosphere are dull, apathetic and even criminally inclined. The smoke problem is still important.

FORMBY WOMAN MAY NOT BE A WITNESS

State Declares Its Case Against Frank Is Now Complete. Dorsey Still Absent.

Because of the inconsistency of her statement with the state's outline of prosecution, Chief Lanford intimates that Mima Formby, the roominghouse keeper of 400 Piedmont avenue, will not be called to the stand in Leo Frank's trial. He does not state this positively, however, but it is the general opinion that such will be the prosecution's action.

Mrs. Formby has stated to a Constitution reporter that she is ready to testify against the factory superintendent and that she will remain in Atlanta until time of trial. It is said that a number of occupants of her Piedmont avenue home, who were in on the night she alleges Frank telephoned her several times to obtain a room to which he could bring a girl, have testified that no such telephone calls came and that the "phone did not ring more than once or twice during the entire evening.

Frank Hooper, the well-known attorney, who is to be associated with Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey in the prosecution, has returned from his recent trip to Cincinnati. Although much speculation was created over his journey in view of the fact that Col. W. B. Felder was to be an active figure in the Phagan investigation, was in Cincinnati at the same time on a trip, the nature of which he declined to disclose.

Also, importance was attached to the fact that the solicitor general was out of the city at the same time. Each of the trio, however, declared that their action out of the city had nothing whatever to do with the Phagan case. None but the solicitor, though, would tell the mission of his trip. He went on a vacation to Atlantic City, he told reporters.

"The state's case is regarded as complete," Mr. Hooper said Thursday shortly following his return to town. "There have been no new developments. We are waiting now for time of trial."

TO STOP IMMIGRATION OF HINDUS AND MALAYS

Washington, June 19.—To check further complication of Pacific coast problems by unrestricted admission of Hindus and the Malay races of Asia to continental United States from the American insular possessions, Secretary of Labor Wilson, on recommendations of Commissioner General of Immigration Caminetti, today made a far-reaching amendment to the immigration regulations.

The modification authorizes immigration officials at mainland ports "to reject aliens coming from the insular possessions unless it should appear that at the time of entry thereto they were not members of the excluded classes or likely to become public charges."

This action was the outcome of the cases of three Hindus—Sohan Singh Bashan Singh and Sadhu Singh—who arrived at San Francisco from the Philippines and were detained on the ground that they might become public charges. The circumstances in this case, however, caused Secretary Wilson to authorize the admission of the Hindu family.

Several thousand Hindus are in the Philippines and several hundred in Hawaii. It has been the practice to open the doors of the United States proper to the races upon presentation of certificates showing they were examined and passed at an American insular port of entry.

COLUMBUS GIRL SUES FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

Columbus, Ga., June 19.—Alleging breach of promise, Miss Catherine Proctor, a pretty 17-year—11 girl, has brought suit for $5,000 in the superior court of Muscogee county against Robert M. Martin, prominent wealthy young business man. A. J. Proctor, the father, has also brought suit against Martin for $5,000.

In addition the Proctors have instituted injunction proceedings to prohibit Martin from disposing of any property until the suits are disposed of. July 5 has been named for the injunction hearing by Judge S. D. Gilbert, of the Chattahoochee circuit.

Martin, who is provided with a number of business interests, claims the suits are blackmail, that the plaintiff at one time made him the proposition to settle the matter for $2,500, and that when he refused they made another proposition to settle for $1,200. Martin claims that he still refused to compromise, and the suits followed.

BIG BOOST IS GIVEN TO GEORGIA CORN SHOW

Resolutions Passed at Luncheon of Fertilizer Dry Mixers' Association of Georgia.

The 1913 Georgia Corn Show and the preparations put under way by the Atlanta chamber of commerce committees in the corn show campaign were both indorsed by a special resolution at a luncheon of the Fertilizer Dry Mixers' association of Georgia at the M. & M. club yesterday.

H. C. Fisher, chairman of one of the chamber of commerce committees; H. G. Hastings, chairman of the corn show committee, and Secretary Walter Cooper made addresses explanatory by special invitation and presented the importance of the corn club movement as it affected not only the fertilizer business, but general prosperity and growth of the state.

W. B. Hollingsworth, of Fayetteville, presided. The speeches met with an enthusiastic reception and the fertilizer men unanimously agreed that the movement should be strongly indorsed.

Resolutions Passed.

"Why not indorse it right now," said Mr. Thomas, of Covington, and as a result of his suggestion strong resolutions were promptly formulated and passed. The fertilizer men promised substantial support.

President Gilmer L. Moore yesterday announced the appointment of special committees to solicit subscriptions for the chamber of commerce fund for the year 1913 and the corn show. Mr. Hastings has promised that in the event $7,500 is raised for this work he now will contribute $750. Heretofore Mr. Hastings has contributed $500 a year. W. J. Lowenstein, of the Norris company, has sent in a voluntary subscription of $100 with the suggestion that three cash prizes be offered for the three largest yields of corn per acre.

The 1914 convention will be held in Sandersville the first Tuesday in June, and will last for two days.

Southern Development Keynote of Speeches at Manss Luncheon

The development of the south along the same scientific and practical lines that have been used in building up the west and the northwest, making of it the great section of the country, was the keynote of a meeting of representative Georgians at the Capital City club at noon yesterday.

The occasion was the luncheon given by ex-Mayor Robert F. Maddox to about twenty Atlantans in honor of William H. Manss, vice president and general manager of the Southern Settlement and Development organization, recently established at Baltimore by southern men for the development of the south.

The organization was effected and chartered under the laws of Maryland following a meeting there of southerners and is headed by S. Davies Warfield, president of the Continental Trust company and one of the most enthusiastic and practical workers for the south who is to be found in America.

At the meeting Thursday Mr. Maddox in introducing Mr. Manss stated that the object of the meeting was for Atlantans to be advised of the purposes, methods and aims of the organization and to become acquainted with the expert who is in charge of the work.

Maddox Tells of Organization.

Mr. Maddox told of the organizers and the time that the governors of the northwest were touring the east, the governors of the south were invited to meet them in Baltimore.

"It was suggested before the meeting," said Mr. Maddox, "that since the governors and the west had made such an active campaign for the development of their section that the time had come for the development of the south along the same scientific lines, thorough in scope and businesslike in methods.

"The suggestion led to the inviting of not only the governors," continued the speaker, "but the heads of transportation lines, the representatives of various members of commerce and other citizens interested in the growth and welfare of the south."

Concluding, Mr. Maddox told of the enthusiasm shown at the meeting which resulted in the founding of the Southern Settlement and Development organization.

Selection of Manss.

In referring to the selection of Mr. Manss as the expert in charge Mr. Maddox paid him high praise in explaining how he came to be chosen.

He told of the suggestion made that Mr. Manss be employed and the letters of recommendation sent by presidents of large transportation lines in the west and northwest and also from the bankers and merchants of Chicago.

"While Mr. Manss at first refused to accept the place, the recommendations were so favorable that he was finally induced to take the place, and I feel as if the organization has made a contribution to the south in securing him," he added.

In a brief statement he then told of the expert, giving an outline of his education in Germany and Europe, and of his organization of the industrial and development department of the Chicago Commercial club and railroad; how he took charge of the civic industrial bureau of the Chicago association of commerce and also of how he planned and organized the national warehouses among the wool growers of the west.

A Vision of the New South.

In delivering his address Mr. Manss spoke of the personnel of the men back of the organization, of how they had a vision of the south and saw it teeming with diversified crops, with activity and general prosperity, and how they gave their time, their energy and money to aid in the realization of this for the land which they said, their own.

He further outlined the charter and the purposes of the organization, as published in The Constitution, particularly stressing the development of the industrial and agricultural resources.

Mr. Manss told of many interesting experiences in his work in the west, and particularly of the need for value of understanding the economic fitness of a crop for a particular soil, and warned the people of Atlanta not to try to locate here any industries for which Atlanta and the industries were not fitted.

"You can't build battleships in Atlanta," said Mr. Manss.

The problem of agriculture in Georgia was admirably set out by the speaker, who quoted figures to show that annually $172,000,000 is sent out of the state for food products, while $19,000,000 is the amount now raised here, but enough more raised in additional to export foods of that value, and that without cutting down the acreage of cotton now produced.

"C equals C," he said, "to put it in my way, which means that corn, cattle and cotton equals conservation, cash and contentment."

Changing to the cattle industry, the speaker told that in the last six months 300,000 head of cattle had been taken out of the southeast country to Texas and Oklahoma, and stated that the hope of the cattle industry lay in the southeastern section of the United States.

150,000 Immigrant Farmers.

In talking about the men who are to develop these enterprises, he made the astounding statement that last year 150,000 farmers came into the United States, and of these only 2 per cent ever landed on a farm.

He pointed out the possibilities of making Atlanta the great export and import section of the country and stated that when this came about Georgia would be the gateway through which these exports and imports would have to pass.

The organization hopes to interest your co-operation," he said. "It comes to Georgia not to dictate, but to lend a helping hand to solve these problems of agricultural, industrial and mining which the citizens of Georgia feel should be developed.

"The organization was not born in a school of oratory, nor has it practiced the art of prophecy, but it comes as business men who have laid out a business campaign to accomplish business results by the application of expert knowledge and activities.

"The men, and the women, of Georgia, will say what shall be done in Georgia," he continued. "This organization is not mine, but yours, so that Georgia may become a garden spot with diversified crops, teeming industries and commercial prosperity.

"The staff of the organization is at your service, if you invite them, will, without cost to you, come into Georgia and study with you your problems and make suggestions for your development and with your co-operation, which means your time, your money and your ability, create such results as even the wildest mind of an Oriental would not dare to picture."

Suggestions Requested.

Mr. Manss concluded by asking those present for any suggestions or information for making the campaign a success. Many of those who heard the talk of Mr. Manss and expressing the opinion that it was the most feasible and the greatest plan ever devised for placing the south at her proper place in the nation's progress.

The plan of organization as sketched in Thursday's Constitution is for a separate organization in each state to work with the headquarters at Baltimore and to be supported by funds subscribed by interested citizens and corporations who wish to see the south prosper. Robert F. Maddox is a member of the central executive committee of the organization and one of the most enthusiastic for its work.

After concluding his stay in Atlanta Mr. Manss left for Athens, where he is due to make an address today.

BOY FATALLY INJURED WHILE "STEALING RIDE"

Billy Waller, of Macon, Run Over by Heavy Auto Ice Truck.

Macon, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—"Billy" Waller, the 6-year-old son of Captain and Mrs. C. H. Waller, 855 Walnut street, lies at the Macon hospital in a dying condition as the result of being run over by a heavy automobile ice truck this afternoon at second and Mulberry streets.

With a negro boy who works at the Waller home the little fellow had hopped on the side of the truck to "steal a ride." The driver ordered them to get off, but in doing so the Waller boy hopped off backwards, fell and then rolled directly under the wheels of the truck, which passed over his legs and stomach. His legs were broken, his skull fractured and there were internal injuries which will probably cause his death.

The boy's father is a conductor on the Macon and Birmingham road and was out on his run at the time of the accident.

Sperr Recognizes Rod.

Macon, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Among the fast time made by baseball pitchers and also severely criticised by their parents who did not play, the boy in the front, Judge Speer in the district court today, Ernest Hewell and Clarence Brown, two little white boys, charged with robbing the postoffice at Eastman, officers of that town, Attorney J. H. Roberts, of Eastman, and the parents of both of the boys appealed to the court for clemency and declared that the punishment which had been meted out in the family woodshed would do much to make both better boys.

Capital Removal Committee.

Macon, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—President E. W. Stetson, of the Macon chamber of commerce, has named the committee to be in charge of the state capital removal campaign and the committee expects to at once get busy in carrying out their plans. C. R. Pendleton was named chairman of the committee two or three weeks ago. The other members just named are: W. E. Dunwody, J. F. Heard, W. A. Harris, R. J. Taylor, R. F. Burden, J. Y. Mallory, W. J. Masser, R. L. McKinney, Morris Harris and John T. Moore.

PROSECUTION ORDERED AGAINST SWIFT & CO.

Packing House Charged With Exposing Rotten Meats for Sale in Americus.

Commissioner of Agriculture J. J. Conner has directed that criminal proceedings be instituted against the packing house of Swift & Co. for violation of the state's pure food laws. This action was taken after a hearing in the commissioner of agriculture's office at which Attorney General Thomas S. Felder assisted, as the law requires in such investigations.

State Veterinarian P. P. Bahnsen, who has been acting in connection with the state pure food department in investigating the case, submitted evidence to the effect that Swift & Co. had, on June 7, offered for sale, in Americus, 260 pounds of decayed and putrified mutton. It was further charged that, on May 27, six quarters of beef, weighing 600 pounds, were found offered for sale in the Americus branch of Swift & Co. and condemned as bad by the pure food inspector. This meat was destroyed by pouring oil upon it.

Swift & Co. were represented at the hearing by T. L. Brice, manager of the Americus branch, and by the state representative of the company, Mr. Leverette.

The case will be turned over to the solicitor general of Sumter county, with instructions to present the evidence to the grand jury of the county at its next meeting.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS MEET IN MILLEDGEVILLE

Milledgeville, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—The Epworth league conference convention of the North Georgia conference assembled here this morning for sessions which will continue through Sunday. The homes of the city have been thrown open to 100 delegates.

Addresses of welcome were delivered tonight by Dr. D. W. Brannen, Rev. E. F. Dempsey and T. H. Caraker. Members of the headquarters team from Nashville, Tenn., also spoke.

RANDOLPH ANDERSON OPENS HEADQUARTERS

Claims 28 Signed Pledges From Senators All of Whom Will Make Good on Roll Call.

J. Randolph Anderson, senator from the first district, arrived in Atlanta yesterday to take up his headquarters at the Kimball for president of the senate.

During the day quite a number of his friends called, and to them he extended written pledges of support signed by twenty-eight members of the senate.

"That is all I have to say on the subject," said Mr. Anderson. "Every signature will be ratified by the roll call. The list is signed by twenty-eight members of the senate and signed by them in person. I have every confidence in the good faith of every gentleman who has thus given me written assurance of support.

"They have done so voluntarily, and their statements can mean but one thing, and that is, needing only twenty-three votes and having twenty-eight pledged in writing. I will, if I live, be president of the next senate."

DR. RIDLEY ATTRACTS LARGE AUDIENCES

Rev. Caleb A. Ridley, of Central Baptist church, is drawing large audiences to hear him at the Sunday evening hour. For five weeks he has been speaking to a packed house, and last Sunday night there were six additions and much interest otherwise.

Beginning next Sunday night, Dr. Ridley will deliver five Sunday evening sermons, taking as his theme, "Short Sermons on Cool Subjects for Hot Weather." The special subject for Sunday night is "How to Become an Infidel."

Dr. Ridley has organized a Thursday night Bible class, which meets at his home and at which time he gives instructions to several young men of the city who expect to become ministers of the gospel. Among the number is his own son, after Leo Ridley, who recently announced his intentions to preach in a letter to his father who was attending the Southern Baptist convention in St. Louis.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS RAGING IN ARKANSAS

Little Rock, Ark., June 19.—More than 100 cases of infantile paralysis exists in three counties in this state, according to Dr. C. W. Garrison, of the state board of health, who returned today to the capital from a tour of the counties afflicted. Dr. Francis, of the federal public health service, accompanied Dr. Garrison. The counties officially reported are Miller county, 45; Sevier county, 31; Little River county, 17. According to the physicians the disease is generally of a mild type, with few deaths resulting. While the paralysis generally attacks young children, several grown persons also were found suffering from the malady.

For Your Health's Sake Drink Hampton Springs Sulphur and Mineral Water

While this water is known as a Sulphur Water, sulphur is only one of its valuable minerals. When accustomed to its use it is a most pleasant and palatable water to drink, and quenches thirst most satisfactorily. But its greatest value is its medicinal qualities, which make the system immune from germ diseases and cures rheumatism, indigestion, stomach, kidney, bladder and skin diseases. It makes you well, and keeps you well by its use. It is recommended by many of the best physicians in the country. So far as known it is the only water containing such a large proportion of sulphur that will retain its full strength for years, in air-tight containers.

Hampton Springs Sulphur and Mineral Water

So satisfied are the owners of Hampton Springs of the great curative value to be secured by its use that they guarantee any user of one package or barrel, containing 120 pints of this wonderful water, when taken according to instructions, will either improve or cure the complaints for which it is recommended, and failing to do so, on return of the empty package to the Springs, the money paid for the water will be refunded.

This water is now distributed in a wholesale way by Jacobs' Pharmacy in Atlanta, who supply the retail druggists, hotels, restaurants, cafes and consumers in full packages, 120 pint bottles, $7.00 per package. Twelve half-gallon bottles in case in Atlanta, $3.50. Hampton Springs Sulphur and Mineral Water is retailed at Jacobs' stores and other places above named at 10 cents per bottle.

OLIVER-ELLIS WEDDING BRILLIANT EVENT OF 30th

Brilliant among the June weddings will be that of Miss Eloise Oliver and Mr. Frampton Ellis, which will take place on the evening of Monday, June 30, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Oliver, on Peachtree street.

Miss Mary Brown will be maid of honor; Mrs William Stansell Rhett, matron of honor; Misses Carolyn King, Lulie Dean Jones and Susie Hallmon, bridesmaids; Lieutenant Edward King, best man.

The bride will enter the drawing room for the ceremony with her brother, Mr. John Oliver, and her mother will give her away. Rev. R. O. Flinn will officiate.

A reception will follow the ceremony.

A series of parties in compliment to the pretty bride-elect will anticipate the wedding.

The first will be a matinee party Monday, at which Mrs. Joseph N. Moody will be hostess, the matinee to be followed by tea at the Capital City club.

On Wednesday Miss Lula Dean Jones will entertain at 5 o'clock tea at the Driving club.

Wednesday morning, June 18, at 11 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Thompson, of Covington.

The beautiful home was artistically decorated with pink and white sweet peas, luxuriant ferns and smilax. During the ceremony the bride and groom stood under an arch of smilax in the entrance to the parlors. Rev. John B. Gordon was the officiating minister. Only members of the immediate families were present. The bride, a beautiful brunette, was becomingly gowned in a traveling suit of dark blue whipcord. Her flowers were a corsage of valley lillies. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gibson left on an automobile tour to St. Simons Island, and along the coast of Florida. Later they expect to take an extensive Western trip.

Bailey-Mallet.

Jackson, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Miss Minnie Bailey, daughter of Mrs. B. P. Bailey was married Wednesday evening at the First Methodist church to Mr. George Edwin Mallet, the wedding, because of the prominence of the families and the popularity of the two young people, centering social interest in Jackson. The church was decorated handsomely and Miss Viola Slaughter played the wedding music. The bride's flower girl, Martha Watts, a niece of the groom, wore lace and embroidery, and the little ring-bearer was Miss Carmichael, in a smart suit of white.

The ushers were Messrs. Tom Buttrill, Homer Carmichael, Otis Ball and Frank Smith, Carmichael. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Eva Key Bailey as maid of honor, and by Misses Annie D. Carmichael and L. E. Sheeley, of Oglethorpe, matrons of honor; Miss Jane Ham, first bridesmaid and other bridesmaids, Misses Mary Mallet, Pauline Mallet and Nina Harris. Captain George Hines, of Augusta; Joel and Hugh Mallet, Lowe Wall, of Macon, groomsmen, and Dr. Quigg Fletcher, of Chattanooga, Tenn, best man. Rev. M. S. Williams, officiated.

The bride's costume was beautiful—a white lace creation built over charmeuse. Her flowers were roses and billows of the bridal veil. The maids and matrons wore lovely gowns of pink chiffon cloth over dresses of Chantilly lace. Their flowers were pink.

After the ceremony a large reception was given at home.

Mrs. Mallet is a social favorite, and Mr. Mallet is prominent and popular. The Jackson Rifles, of which he was formerly captain, attended in uniform.

Mr. and Mrs. Mallet left after the reception for a week's trip to Atlantic Beach, their stay a short one on account of the marriage on next Wednesday night, of Dr. Quigg Fletcher, who acted as best man. Mr. Mallet will, in turn, attend his wedding as best man. Dr. Fletcher will be married to Miss Ruth Lamar, of Americus, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Frank Etheridge, on Third street, in Jackson.

Miss Ballard's Bridge Party.

Miss Nell Ballard's bridge party yesterday afternoon at her home on North Boulevard was a pretty compliment to Miss Henrietta Dull, a bride-elect, and Mrs. E. R. Kenner, who has recently come to Atlanta to live.

The house was attractively decorated with ferns and bowls of pink and white sweet peas. The prizes were a hand-painted vase, a gold and white pin tray, and the guests of honor were given pieces of hand-made lingerie.

The hostess wore a white lingerie gown and both honor guests wore white hats. The guests included Mrs. Kenner, Miss Dull, Miss Alberta Williams, Miss Marjorie Doonan, Miss Margaret Harrison, Miss Aline Goree, Miss Willie Wilson, Miss Virginia Lovett, Miss Georgia Crane, Miss Frances Lederly, Miss Frances Kenner, Miss Louise Dull, Miss Mary Dull, Miss Ethel Dull, Miss Antoinette Blackburn, Miss Janet Little, Miss Louise Haygood, Miss Eva Wurm, Miss Isabel Reynolds, Mrs. C. S. Marshall, Miss Dorothy Selby, Mrs. J. W. Zuber and Mrs. Morris Ewing.

The opening reception by the Brookhaven club as the country house of the Capital City club will be the brilliant social event of next Thursday, June 26. The hour has been set for 5 o'clock.

To Miss Thrall.

Mrs. Frank M. Farley, Jr., will entertain at tea Saturday at the Driving club, a party of ten younger set, inviting them to meet Miss Jane Thrall, of Williamsport, Pa., who will be the guest of Mrs. A. W. Hill.

Afternoon Bridge.

Mrs. James W. Morrow, Jr., gave a pretty card party yesterday, this event an enjoyable one in the series of entertainments for Miss Martha Francis.

The house was decorated with a profusion of pink and white roses and nasturtiums, and punch was served in the dining room from a table gay with nasturtiums. The bridge prizes were a piece of hand-made lingerie and a fan, and the guest of honor was presented a adinty souvenir in ribbon and lace.

Mrs. Morrow was gowned in cream embroidered batiste, her sash of turquoise blue satin, and she was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. J. W. Morrow and Mrs. J. F. Lovette. Miss Francis wore a pretty white crepe gown with lavender crepe coat and a black hat with a Paradise feather.

To Miss Wilson.

Mrs. Charles Whitner entertained twelve young girls at bridge luncheon yesterday, the occasion a compliment to Miss Mary Badger Wilson, of Washington, who now is the guest of Mrs. Joseph Hall.

For Miss Tinsley.

Miss Frances Flemister entertained at tea several young girls at the Georgian Terrace for Miss Elizabeth Tinsley, of Louisville, Ky., the guest of Miss Mary Bowden. Miss Bowden gave an enjoyable dance last evening at the Hyperion club in compliment to her guest.

Miss Traylor to Entertain.

Miss Margaret Traylor will entertain at bridge next week in compliment to Miss Louise Cooper's guests, Miss Graves and Miss Cothran, of Rome.

Fouche-Forbes.

Miss Nell Fouche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Fouche, of 40 1-2 Olive street, was married to Mr. Jamie V. Forbes, of Montgomery, Ala., at the residence of the bride's parents, Thursday afternoon at 6.30 o'clock.

HOUSE PARTY.

Talbotton, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Miss Ruth Arnold was the charming hostess at a house party Tuesday evening, given in honor of her guests that formed the reception as follows: Misses Eloulse Walker, of Atlanta; Eliza Cater, of Perry; Julia Dickey, of Oxford; Marguerite Walton, of Columbus; Cornelia Bell, of Gainesville.

Those that assisted Miss Arnold in entertaining her guest were Misses Annie Douglass, Martha K. Smith and Clara Spivey. Over fifty couples were present.

SOCIAL ITEMS.

Mrs. Percival Sneed and Mr. Percival Sneed left on Wednesday for Haven, Maine, where they have taken a cottage for the summer.

Miss Gladys Glover, who returned Monday from the Convent of the Sacred Heart, Manhattanville, is ill at St. Joseph's, where she was operated on Tuesday night for appendicitis.

Miss Eugenia Richardson, of College Park, is spending a few days with Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin.

Captain and Mrs. W. P. Howard have returned from Kentucky. Miss Mary Howard will remain all summer.

Misses Cleo and Ivaline Lucke returned last night, after having spent a delightful week at St. Simon's Island.

Mrs. L. H. Patillo is ill with appendicitis.

Miss Ellie May Bedell, of Knoxville, Tenn., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Bedell, 305 Jumper street.

Mrs. George Forrester and little son, George, are spending some time at Atlantic City.

Miss Jane Thrall, of Williamsport, Pa., who was an attendant at the Tribble-Dick wedding in Athens, arrives today to visit Mrs. A. W. Hill, and Mrs. Hill and others will entertain in her honor.

Miss Callie Hoke Smith, who was an attendant at the Tribble-Dick wedding, arrives this week to visit her sister, Mrs. Ronald Ransom.

Miss Mamie Gatins left yesterday for New York to join Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gatins, who will spend the summer at Lake Placid and Narragansett Pier.

Mrs. J. G. Oglesby, who has been ill for a week, has recovered.

Mrs. Howard C. Johnston and Miss Frances Woodbury leave today for a week's visit with their sister, Mrs. Julian de Bruyn-Kops in Savannah.

Mr. J. B. Hockaday leaves today for Richmond on his way to New York, where he will join Mrs. Hockaday Sunday. Mrs. Hockaday, who has been visiting friends, at Montclair, N. J., is at the Waldorf.

Miss Eleanore Elliott, of Greensboro, N. C., is the guest of Mrs. Henry D. Fennell on Piedmont avenue. Miss Elliott is a member of the faculty of North Carolina College for Women.

Mr. John Oliver and Mr. George Brown, Jr., left yesterday on a motor trip to Belton, S. C., where they will be a guest of a house party.

Mrs. A. R. Harrell and two little daughters, Rebecca and Mollie Wight, are in North Carolina, where they will remain until September 1.

A pretty affair of this evening will be the musical and dancing party with which Mr. and Mrs. George Caldwell Speir will entertain. Forty friends have been invited. Miss Louise Bradberry, Miss Mary Carl Hurstand, Mrs. G. Willis Smith will serve punch.

Hon. Byron Bower, of Bainbridge, spent yesterday in Atlanta, returning to his home in Bainbridge last night. Mr. Bower had been attending the annual meeting of the trustees of the university at Athens.

FRANK CAMPOS DIES FROM AUTO ACCIDENT

Savannah, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Frank W. Campos, an officer of the national organization of master plumbers, state oil inspector for this district, of prominence in state and local politics, died tonight as the result of injuries received a week ago when he drove his automobile into a tree on the grand prize automobile course. His nose was broken, his knee broken, he had a hole torn in his side and he was injured internally.

Two of his children, a white helper and a negro helper were also injured. For a time it was thought the injuries of 10-year-old Loretta Campos would terminate fatally, but she is now out of danger.

41½-Pound Melon.

Bridgeboro, Ga., June 19.—(Special.) J. N. Sumner, manager of Alford & Sumner farm, had on exhibition here this morning a Watson watermelon, grown on their farm, weighing 41½ pounds, the largest ever seen in this section this early in the year. They have about 180 acres in these melons, and expect to ship two or three cars this week.

MISS RUTH TRIBBLE WEDS MR. SAMUEL KENNEY DICK

Athens, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—One of the important social events of the season in the south, was the marriage this evening in the First Presbyterian church in Athens of Miss Ruth Tribble, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Tribble, to Mr. Samuel Kenney Dick, of Atlanta.

In the old church, which lends itself admirably to a function of large proportions and dignity and impressiveness, which had been decorated in elegant manner, green and white, the ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. E. Lee Hill, D. D., assisted by Dr. J. W. Lynch, of the First Baptist church—the beautiful ring ceremony being employed with impressive effect. The bride, petite and dark and extremely pretty, wore an imported Barnard model made of white silk crepe embroidered in silver thread with garniture of French lace and pearl ornaments. Mrs. Tribble was matron of honor; she wore white brocade with lace and ornaments of rhinestones effective in the costume. The bridesmaids were Miss Callie Hoke Smith, of Washington, D. C., maid of honor; Miss Jane Thrall, of Williamsport, Pa.; Miss Martha Phinizy, of Athens, and Miss Ruth Barren, of Philadelphia, all of Columbus. Mrs. John B. Grant, Misses Stella Lima, Annie Talyor, Lora Kate Smith and Alline Wellborn. Misses Edith Hayes and Mary Patterson served punch.

The pretty bridesmaids were dressed in white satin draped with lace, wore pink picture hats, and carried baskets of Killarney roses.

The best man to the groom was his brother, Mr. Jackson Dick, of Atlanta. The other groomsmen were Mr. James Harris, Mr. Wimberly Peters, Mr. Milton Dargan and Mr. William Mannery, of Atlanta.

After the ceremony a large reception was given at the Milledge avenue home, which was decorated elaborately, with the lawn especially beautiful for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Dick left on the midnight train for a wedding trip of a month. Upon their return they will be at home to their many friends in Atlanta.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dick are widely known in the state and in the south and are popular in the young set socially. The bride is the only daughter of Congressman and Mrs. Samuel J. Tribble, of Washington city. Mr. Dick is prominently connected with Atlanta and Georgia families, though originally his father was from Tennessee and his mother from Texas. He completed his literary courses last year, and only yesterday received his diploma from the law school of the University of Georgia.

IF COOK HAD HIS WAY PEARY WOULD HANG

The Doctor Also Calls National Geographical Society "Bunch of Political Shrimps."

Griffin, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—The sensation of Griffin today is the hot roast Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer, handed to Rear Admiral Peary, U. S. N., in his lecture delivered before a thousand people. Declaring that Peary had done things for which he should be hanged, Dr. Cook coolly consigned him to regions where snows 'do not fall. Also, Dr. Cook paid his sincere disrespect to the yellow journals that so persistently circulated "falsehoods" against him. In his tirade he classed the National Geographic society as a bunch of political shrimps and said any street sweeper who would pay his $2 annual dues could be a member and a geographer; but that immediately upon the failure to pay he would no longer be a scientist.

In his lecture of over an hour, Dr. Cook gave very many interesting recitals of his experience, and gave stereopticon views of his polar journey. But in his discourse he had little or nothing to say of any scientific proofs of his having reached the Pole, and showed no pictures of the last 500 miles of his journey. At no time in his lecture did he go into any detail of proof, only making the statement of having done this thing or that.

He pleads for a fair investigation of his claims. He avers that over thirty of the Arctic explorers of the day have indorsed him, and that the University of Copenhagen is the only scientific body that has examined either his or Peary's records. He now pleads that congress may make an investigation, and give credit or recognition for his achievements.

Catches 41 'Gators.

Waycross, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—After making a catch of nineteen alligators, Lewis Anthony, who lives in Ware county, but pulls off most of his big stunts in the famous Okefenokee swamp, has broken his own record and caught forty-one at one time. He located the 'gators before he made the haul and had little trouble in handling the unusual number.

Electric Engineemen Eligible.

Washington, June 19.—All employees engaged in the operation of electric locomotives were made eligible for membership in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen by an amendment to the constitution adopted at today's session of the annual convention of the Brotherhood. Heretofore only enginemen and firemen on steam locomotives have been eligible. This was the most important of the several changes made in the constitution today.

KIRKLAND DEFENDS CARNEGIE DONATION

Chancellor Says That Vanderbilt Trustees Retain Full Control of Medical Department.

Nashville, Tenn., June 19.—In a statement issued last night Chancellor J. H. Kirkland replies to the protest of the four members of the Vanderbilt university board of trust over the Carnegie gift to the medical department. He says all the objections offered turn on the assumption that the board of trust is to turn over the medical department to an "independent board," a sufficient answer to which is the resolutions for the medical department adopted by the board of trust, the election of members of the governing board and their removal for cause by the board of trust, records of the medical department to be accessible to the board of trust; the actions of the governing board to be subject to ratification by the board of trust.

"Even from the point of view of the Methodist church," says Dr. Kirkland, "there can be no ground for the rejection of the money or the plan. Vanderbilt university has everything to gain by it and nothing to lose. If the university is to be controlled by the church, it will be much better off with a first-class medical school than with the old. Certainly Nashville and the south generally can hardly be expected to relish the refusal of a great donation on grounds so puerile."

RICH GROWING BETTER, DECLARES EVANGELIST

Perils of Riches Are Mainly for Children of the Rich Men, Says Dr. Riley.

Rich men are coming more and more to the conclusion that charity is the best means of disposing of their riches, declared Dr. W. B. Riley Thursday afternoon at the Baptist Tabernacle.

Speaking on the subject of "Job, or Perils of Prosperity," he discussed the momentous subject of riches and its effect upon people, saying that there are thousands of upright and honest rich men in the churches today.

"I have little patience with some of the present-day methods of money-making," said the evangelist, "and I confess that in the modern industrial warfare, my sympathies are largely with the laboring classes, and yet, I cannot go the length of those economic agitators, who condemn in the wholesale, all successful men. The finest characters, with whom I am acquainted, are men who combine the acquisition of wealth and the retention of religion, as did Job. The man who continues to live a simple life, who keeps himself unstained by grosser sins, who feels himself dependent upon the bounty of God, who begins his every day with prayer, who marks it with alms-giving, and who, in the midst of all his successes, retains a tender heart and open mind, to me, is the model of all men, and the world has many such.

"The peril of riches is not for the person who acquires them, as a rule, but as in Job's instance, the peril is for his children. The man who has sense enough to make money has also sense enough to properly spend it; but the man whose only honor is that he is an heir, commonly dishonors his forebears and squanders his inherited fortunes by riotous living.

"This is a day of great fortunes and also a day of great needs. More and more the world's millionaires are coming to the conclusion that charity and not children is the proper subject for magnificent grants; that it is both righteous and intelligent to turn back into the channels of the social need the wealth acquired by the sweat of others' brows, and even that which a man justly claims as the result of one's own brain power."

Friday afternoon at 3:30 Dr. Riley will speak again on the Book of Job, "Job, or Dogged by the Devil." Tonight his subject will be "His Unpardonable Sin."

REGIMENTAL CLUB GIVES DANCE AT POST

The Regimental Social club of the Seventeenth infantry at Fort McPherson will give a dance tonight at the post gymnasium. Music will be furnished by the entire regiment band and delightful refreshments will be served. The dance starts promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

A concert will also be given on the parade grounds at 7:10 o'clock to which a cordial invitation has been extended to the general public.

No Zeppelins for Foreigners.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, June 9.—Count Zeppelin today declared that he was pledged not to accept any foreign orders for dirigible air ships. His company, he said, would construct dirigibles only for the German government or for use in Germany. He denied the report published in Vienna that he had contracted to build six air ships for the Austrian army.

Negroes in Bloody Fight.

Pensacola, Fla., June 19.—Casal Barnette, white, while watching a battle among negroes at Carryville, Fla., was wounded, and a negro man and woman were killed. The fight occurred at a lumber plant. Barnette is not fatally injured.

LOCKER CLUB SPOILS POURED INTO STREET BY CORDELE COUNCIL

Cordele, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—For several months a quantity of liquor and beer, seized in a raid upon the Commercial club, after a charge had been preferred against the manager of the locker, charging him with selling intoxicating liquors, has been held in the vault of the city hall. What disposition to make of the "tipsy stuff" the city council had not decided until last night.

"I make a motion," said one councilman, "that all of the beer and whiskey we cannot drink tonight, we will pour out," and the resolution was passed, though the clause about drinking was not permitted, since no official had only spoken it in a joking way. So, with corkscrews and bottle openers in their hands, the fathers went forth to confiscate the intoxicants. Bottle after bottle was opened, and "Old John Barley Corn" got stewed up with cocktail, beer and "rye" of various brands when the official body took turns about in emptying the contents upon the ground, making quite a pool in the rear of the city hall.

WHEN HIS EYES FAILED ARTIST TOOK POISON

Chicago, June 19.—Despondent because his eyes had failed him, just when he had conceived, after years of dreaming, the pictures he hoped would make him famous, Carl Mauch, an artist, took poison and died from its effect yesterday. He was 63 years old and rapidly was losing his sight.

Recently Mauch told a fellow member of the Palette and Chisel club that the inspiration of his life had come to him and bemoaned the fact that his eyes were failing him and that he never again would touch a brush to canvas.

Mauch was born in Wurtemburg, Germany, and his club fellows tell a story of him when a boy, he chastised the future king of that province. According to them, it was the rule at the school which Mauch attended that the prince should always be the winner of any game. When he saw his friends contriving that the prince should be the victor in a game in which he was playing he flew into a rage and attacked his young majesty.

FLEEING FROM MEXICO THEY REACH MOBILE

Mobile, Ala., June 19.—Thirty-five refugees from Tampico, Mexico, arrived at Mobile on board the Lykland liner Asian this morning. Among the passengers were nine in transit for England. Thirteen were citizens of the United States. Among the passengers were the wife, daughter and mother of G. Girmendia, former chief of police of Mexico City, and captain in the Mexican army, who escaped to the United States after the assassination of Madero. Alfred H. Bromley, a mining engineer of the English syndicate, with properties near Tampico, was also a passenger on the Asian. Mr. Bromley states that conditions in the interior of Mexico are chaotic. He says general belief among foreigners in Mexico is that intervention will be necessary before peace can be restored. Miss Olga Bylotf, a member of the Austrian nobility, who has been in the city of Mexico, was also a passenger.

WHARVES ARE SUBJECT TO THE COMMISSION

Washington, June 19.—"Wharves and the tracks leading thereto, owned by a rail carrier engaged in interstate commerce and used for receiving and delivering property moving by rail in interstate and foreign commerce, are subject to the act to regulate commerce and the regulations and practices affecting their use must be reasonable and non-discriminatory."

This broad principle was laid down today by the interstate commerce commission in its report of an investigation of the use of wharfage facilities at Pensacola, Fla.

The commission held that the regulations and practices of the Louisville and Nashville railroad in the administration of its Pensacola wharves were unreasonable and unjustly discriminatory and the road was ordered by August 15 to cease such practices as the commission found discriminatory.

FIVE LOTS SOLD AT ANSLEY PARK AUCTION

Everything but the skies smiled on the auction sale advertised by Edwin P. Ansley at which twenty-five lots in Ansley Park annex were to be sold yesterday afternoon, and about the time that prospective buyers were to take the cars to reach the grounds clouds appeared and threatened another such driving rain as came on the previous day.

According to the weather bureau, those clouds pulled the temperature down from 89 to 86 degrees, and, according to Sales Manager S. E. Davidson, it pulled the sale of lots down from twenty-five to five. The lots that were sold brought satisfactory prices, stated Mr. Davidson, but when it appeared that there was not the crowd that the sale would justify, the auction was called off and the lots will be sold at private sale.

TWO HARTS ARE HELD FOR DOUBLE MURDER

Moultrie, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Judge G. K. Porter presided at the preliminary hearing of the Harts, charged with the murder of Horace and J. M. Harnage yesterday. Only the state's evidence was introduced, the defendants declining to introduce their testimony. Both of the Harts and their negro driver, Johnson, who was the primary cause of the tragedy, were remanded to jail without bond to await the action of the grand jury, which convenes in July.

WANTED ON CHARGE OF SWINDLING HOTELS

Jacksonville, Fla., June 19.—Sheriff Dowling left for Savannah this morning to bring A. C. Reynolds here on the alleged charge of swindling the Reminole hotel out of $35 on a fake draft on the Thermos Bottle company, of New York.

That concern wires that a man supposed to be Reynolds has cashed bogus drafts aggregating thousands of dollars in many cities on the firm, swindling hotels, it is said, by placing the ware at a cheap figure and then getting advances on drafts. He is alleged to have tried it in Savannah yesterday and the police there warned from here, arrested him.

NO COMMITTEE ROOMS FOR SOLONS THIS YEAR

Legislators, Ousted by New Departments, May Have to Meet on Capitol Lawn.

There is one serious problem which both houses of the general assembly will find confronting them next week when they meet here, about which little or nothing has been said so far. That is, where will committee meetings be held?

During past sessions of the legislature almost the entire third floor has been reserved for committee meetings of the two houses, which are usually held in the afternoon after the sessions of the houses in the morning.

This year the solons will find themselves rooted out entirely by new departments that were created by the last general assembly and by the prison commission, which has recently removed from the first floor to much roomier quarters on the third.

The general judiciary committee of the house will find the fish and game commissioner, Jesse Mercer, installed in the big room in the southeast corner of the building where it has heretofore sat. The house committee on education will have been ousted by the prison commission from the opposite corner of the building.

Other committee rooms have been preoccupied by the department of labor with Commissioner Henry Stanley in charge and by the department of public records, with Lucian L. Knight at the helm.

Only Smoking Room Left.

Two little rooms have been left on either side of the senate and house chambers. These four little apartments have hitherto been used for smoking and lounging rooms by the members of the houses, but this year they will be about the only rooms available in the capitol building itself for committee purposes.

Might Meet on Lawn.

It has been suggested that committee meetings might be held on the capitol grounds, the lawns being spacious aplenty for the meeting of several committees at one time without conflicting with each other, unless the debates grew unusually exciting. Then the members of the legislature would be able in that way to give the public ocular evidence that they were really busy.

The further suggestion has been made that some of the hotels might furnish rooms for the meeting of legislative committees as a bid for the patronage of the solons and their families while they are here.

It has only been within the last year that quarters on the third floor of the capitol have been in demand. Before that time there was no elevator running in the building except when the houses were in session. Statehouse officials are not lazier as a class than ordinary mortals, but the walk up two flights of stairs several times a day to reach their offices was not an inviting prospect. Now, however, it has all been changed by the year-round operation of the elevator and there has been a rush to secure quarters on the third floor, which are among the coolest and most desirable in the building.

YOUNG CORDELE COUPLE ELOPE IN AUTOMOBILE

Cordele, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Because there were parental objections on the young lady's side, principally because of the ages of the youthful couple, John Whitsett, aged 18, and Miss Edna Pless, aged 17, stole a go on the "old folks" yesterday afternoon and, with the aid of friends, got the nuptial knot tied that made them man and wife.

Securing an automobile and driver they rode to Arabi, where Rev. T. E. Murray, pastor of the Methodist church there, performed the ceremony. Then the happy pair continued their trip to Ashburn, boarding an early night train for Valdosta. "We will give the 'old folks' time to make up their minds to forgive us and then we will return home," they said. The youthful groom is heir to a handsome fortune.

PEACE PARLIAMENT ASKED BY FRENCHMEN

Paris, June 19.—A motion signed by forty socialist deputies calling on the French government to initiate an international parliament of arbitration was introduced in the chamber of deputies today by Francois Fournier. The chamber, by a vote of 419 to 153, declined to give the motion precedence.

Foreign Minister Pichon described the idea as impractical. He recalled that France had been unsuccessful at The Hague in obtaining obligatory arbitration which nine nations had refused, notable among them Germany, Austria-Hungary, Italy and Turkey. He also said that when France and the United States had negotiated an arbitration treaty the American senate refused to ratify M. M. Pinchon concluded:

"If we seek to advance too rapidly the cause of arbitration will be compromised."

MISTAKEN FOR NEGRO, YOUNG MAN IS KILLED

Pensacola, Fla., June 19.—Charles Henderson, a prominent resident of Marianna, Fla., was shot and instantly killed by Deputy Sheriff Gregory late yesterday evening. Henderson was a member of a posse chasing a negro wanted on various charges. He crossed a cornfield, meeting two other members of the posse, and discovered the negro running in advance. He started in pursuit, ahead of the others, who attracted the attention of the main posse. Gregory, leading the posse, thought Henderson was the negro, 300 yards ahead, and fired several times, one bullet penetrating the heart. Gregory was exonerated by the coroner's jury.

POSTMASTER CLAXTON IS RECOVERING

Wrightsville, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Reports from the bedside of H. J. Claxton, postmaster at Kite, Ga., who was shot by Eldridge Price Tuesday morning, state that Mr. Claxton is rapidly recovering. Price is still in jail here.

The shooting occurred at the Kite postoffice, when Claxton, it is alleged, resented some remarks made by Price and advanced on the latter.

The bullet from Price's 32-caliber revolver grazed Claxton's left elbow and entered his side just below the heart. The wounded man was rushed to a sanitarium here, and for a while it was thought he could not recover.

It is said that Claxton was not armed.

NEW RULES PROVIDED FOR HANDLING COTTON

Steamship Lines Announce That Regulations Go Into Effect September 1.

Birmingham, Ala., June 19.—Results of the general conferences between steamship and rail interests, bankers, compress owners, cotton exporters and others anent the rules for handling the cotton crop this year and in the future held yesterday and gave out today were that the steamship lines had given an ultimatum that there will be no change in the proposed plans for handling cotton. These rules are to go into effect September 1 and provide for uniformity in baling cotton, marking so as to give a full description of cotton, etc.

Another mass meeting of interest involved will be called by E. H. Hinton, of the Southeastern Freight association to be held in Atlanta between now and September 1 to make another effort to recoicile the interest. The ultimatum of the steamship lines was rendered by William P. Ross, of New Orleans. Speeches made in the conference here were by a representative of each interest involved. To carry out the steamship rules will means readjustment of compress work which will mean much expense and trouble.

Edward F. Britton Dead.

Sea Breeze, Fla., June 19.—Edward Francis Britton, postmaster here for a number of years, died late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Britton followed the newspaper business in various states until he came here in 1905, when he was appointed postmaster.

Do You Read Advertisements, Sir?

The man who doesn't read advertising misses a great deal of valuable information and real news.

We dont' suggest that a man immerse himself in the depths of an advertisement that relates to millinery or something else distinctly feminine, but we do suggest that a man read advertisements that bear upon his own daily needs.

It is worth any man's while, not alone because such a course gives him information of importance, but because it enables him to save money on his purchases.

Suppose you need a suit of clothes, a pair of shoes, or something else to wear.

Suppose as a result of having read an advertisement you go straight to a certain store, make your purchase, and save several dollars. All because of having read an advertisement.

Isn't it worth while?

Crackers Crushed—Ladies' Day Today

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

Early Game.

SATURDAY will be one of the early game affairs. The Crackers and Barons both have to catch a train, the locals going to New Orleans and the Barons to Mobile. This early game proposition was avoided as much as possible this season, but this week catches one of the games. Things have been breaking badly in this respect for the Crackers. The few Saturday games at the regularly scheduled time that they have had have been rained out.

Murdering Ball.

THE GIANTS, champions of the National league, are out to repeat. They are overhauling the Philadelphia Nationals at a rapid clip now and seem destined to make good their prediction of getting in the lead again by July 1. Of late the Giants have been murdering the ball on the present road trip they have made an average of twelve hits to the game and they have been bunching them, too, at the right time. During the past two weeks the champions have been hitting better than any club in the big leagues.

After Infielders.

THE VOLS are not content with the present personnel of the team. They realize that they need another good hitter in the line-up if they are to stay up in the race. Hinsig has made a bid for Almeida, the hard hitting Cuban, last year with Birmingham and now with the Cincinnati Reds, but as yet Tinker has turned a deaf ear to all his offers.

A Good Twirler.

C. WEBB MURPHY, owner of the Chicago Cubs, is out with the statement that when the Giants purchased Rube Schauer they grabbed off another lemon. Just a case of sour grapes if Webb's allegations ought to be a good alibi. We confidently expect Schauer to come through with a great showing when he joins the Giants on the strength of Murphy's doubts in the matter. Where has he ever picked any great pitchers?

After Record.

TED MEREDITH, the remarkable Mercersburg academy runner, is out to smash the quarter-mile mark now held by Maxey Long. Long's record has been standing for low these many years. Meredith came within one-fifth of a second of equaling it the other day in a try-out. And athletic sharps say that he was not trying then. This youngster is one of the greatest sprinters that ever wore a spiked shoe and a great future awaits him.

It's Safe.

RUBE MARQUARD'S record of nineteen straight wins is safe for a while at least. Walter Johnson started off like he was going to beat it, but after winning ten straight, Seaton, of Philadelphia, fell at the same goal post. Groat, of Cleveland, Alexander, the big right-hander of the Phillies, went them both one better, but he toppled on his twelfth start. Who's next?

The Gulls Only.

MIKE FINN'S Mobile Gulls are the only team that has any perceptible edge over the Crackers in the interseries games this season. The Crackers have been able to win only one game in seven played from the league leaders. Montgomery and Memphis have won four out of seven each from the Crackers, Nashville has won six out of eleven. The Crackers have won three out of five from the Pelicans and eight out of eleven each from the Barons and Lookouts, including the games played Wednesday.

Barons Crush the Crackers; Kavanaugh Presents Trophy; Marcan's Hitting Features

By Dick Jemison.

Adopting the usual custom of home teams, on pennant-winning or trophy presentation days, the Crackers dropped the first game of the series to the Barons Thursday afternoon by the lopsided count of 7 to 2.

Just before the game started, the players of both teams gathered around the plate, and President Kavanaugh, of the Southern league, presented President Calloway, of the local club, with the trophy won by the local team when they registered the largest paid attendance the opening game of the season.

President Calloway accepted it, then turned it over to Manager Smith for safe keeping. Immediately thereafter the game began.

Musser Routed.

Paul Musser started the game for the Crackers and, with only one man retired, the Barons got to him for five hits and four runs, sufficient to win the pastime.

Price succeeded Musser and he too was pounded hard, ten hits and three runs being made off his delivery. Conselman twirled the ninth inning, Rohe batting for Price in the eighth.

Bill Foxen twirled the game for the Barons, and although hit hard, the former Cracker either allowed most of the hits after one or two men had been retired, or he was backed up by some splendid fielding. Several hard hit balls went right straight at some Birmingham fielder, while on others brilliant plays were made.

Marcan Busy Lad.

Lil Marcan had a field day. He stepped to the plate five times, three times he singled and the fourth he tripled. The last time up he grounded out. All four of his hits were clean wallops.

Mayer with a single, a double and a triple, was right behind Marcan in the attack. Foxen and Kniseley got two hits each. In all the Barons got fifteen bingles, while they played errorless ball behind Foxen, although they had several hard chances.

Allemann, with three hits, led the Atlanta attack on Foxen and Welchonce, Smith, Bisland and Agler got two each.

Welchonce probably hit in the hardest luck of anyone. His two singles were clean. The other three times he hit line drives that went straight at some fielder.

Marcan opened the game with a single to right, and was sacrificed to second by Messenger. He advanced to third on a wild pitch, and counted when Kniseley singled. McBride singled, sending Kniseley to third, and McGilvray singled, scoring Kniseley. Mayer doubled, sending both men home, going to third on the throw to the plate.

Price to Rescue.

This was enough for Mr. Musser, who held out the distress signal, and Price went to the rescue. He fanned Carroll, then walked Elliott, and Mayer was out on an attempted double steal.

The Crackers got seven hits off of Foxen in the first five innings, but were unable to get a single tally across the pan.

With one gone in the seventh, Foxen smashed a single to left. Marcan tripled to left center and counted himself on Messenger's single.

Mayer's triple and Allemann's single counted the final run in the eighth.

The Crackers' lone tallies came in the eighth. Bailey's single to the right field bank being followed by Smith's double to right and Bisland's single.

Hardgrove and Mayer, for the Barons, and Reidy and Burns, for Atlanta, will be the probable batteries today.

Mobile, Ala., June 19.—Though weakened by the absence of two of the regulars, who are out with injuries, and with their line-up changed in many places, Mobile won today's game from New Orleans by a score of 8 to 4. Rube Evans was knocked out of the box in the second inning, when six successive hits, two of them two-baggers, scored four runs. Brenegar succeeded Evans, but hard, while he was loosely supported. Hoge pitched well, errors paving the way to the runs scored by the visitors.

Lookouts 6, Vols 2.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 19.—Brackenridge's wild throw on an easy chance after two were down in the third gave the locals two runs. A single, a pass and Johnson's double then made the total five for the inning, enough to beat Nashville. In the first inning a ball pitched by Brackenride struck Elberfeld's head with an audible thud and rolled back into the diamond. Brackenridge recovered the ball and while Elberfeld was recovering from the shock, tossed it to first. This action irritated the batsman, who threw his bat at the pitcher. For this he was put out of the game. Sommers held Nashville safe all the way.

Montgomery, Ala., June 19.—Both Brown and Newton pitched brilliantly today and it was not until two men were down in the last half of the ninth that the rubber was crossed. Memphis only had two players to get on bases. Brown walked Abstein in the fifth and Merritt opened the eighth with a two-bagger. Both were left on the base they originally reached. Newton allowed three singles. In the ninth Kutina was safe on Butler's error. He reached third on a sacrifice and an infield out and scored on Donahue's safety to center.

Giants Buy Piez.

SOUTH ATLANTIC

Foxes 4, Peaches 1.

Macon, Ga., June 19.—Columbus took the first of the series 4 to 1. Martin pitched steady ball, some of the hits charged against him being due to ragged fielding. Martin and Munn were hindered by crippled ankles. For Columbus, Ward kept his opponents at bay until the close of the game, when they began to hit him frequently. Macon scored in the ninth on three hits.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.

CARLETON SMITH WINS IN SINGLES

Defeats Ed Carter in Finals for Right to Challenge Dr. Thornton, Georgia State Tennis Champ.

By Hal Reynolds.

After four hard sets of strenuous play C. Y. Smith finally won out over E. V. Carter, Jr., 10—8, 6—3, 0—6, 6—2 in the final match for the tournament cup and the privilege of contesting with Nat Thornton, the present champion, for the loving cup which Thornton has already won twice. Should Thornton win this match, the cup will become his permanent possession.

The Carter-Smith match was one of the best that has ever been staged at the Driving club courts. In the first set Smith started off in great shape, winning five of the first six games played.

A good indication of how strong Smith was can be obtained from the fact that Carter only had 8 points to his credit in the six games.

Carter played great tennis after Smith had him 5—1 in games in the first set, pulling himself up to a tie with Smith. The set went for 18 games before Smith finally won out. In the tenth game Smith needed but 1 point to win the set for five successive times, but failed, Carter at last winning the game.

In the third set Carter finally succeeding in working up to the net and by so doing won a lone set from Smith, Smith seemingly not being able to drive him back into the back court.

With the exception of this set, both players used the back court exclusively, neither one ever approaching the net. Smith played for the most part a strong and steady game, being on the offensive the greater part of the match.

In the semi-finals H. J. Hall put up a much stronger game than was expected of him, defeating C. Y. Smith in the first set 6—4, and losing out to him in the other two sets 0—6 and 2—6.

Mansfield and Smith had little trouble in downing A. W. Smith and Draper 6—3, 6—2. Mansfield put over several placety shots in this match, his cross-court shots being especially strong.

In the Grant-Thornton and Carter-Middlebrooks match some good tennis was uncorked by both teams. Both played a net game whenever it was possible. Grant and Thornton finally winning 7—5, 6—2.

In the consolation event the work of young Hallman has been very good. He has played some exceptionally strong matches, and is now in the final, in which event he will meet J. K. Orr, Jr., this afternoon for the cup.

Yesterday's results follow:

MEN'S SINGLES.

Third Round.

H. J. Hall defeated G. A. Howell 6—3, 6—4.

Mansfield defeated B. M. Grant 6—2, 6—3, 6—2.

Semi-Finals.

C. Y. Smith defeated H. J. Hall 4—6, 6—0, 6—3.

E. V. Carter, Jr., defeated Mansfield 6—1, 6—3.

Finals.

C. Y. Smith defeated E. V. Carter, Jr., 10—8, 6—3, 0—6, 6—2.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

Second Round.

A. W. Smith and Draper defeated Colquitt and Clarke 6—3, 6—3.

Semi-Finals.

Mansfield and Smith defeated A. W. Smith and Draper 6—3, 6—1.

MEN'S CONSOLATION SINGLES.

First Round.

J. K. Orr, Jr., defeated Colquitt 6—1, 6—3.

Jennings defeated E. R. Black, Jr., 6—0.

Hallman defeated L. D. Scott 6—2, 6—6.

Second Round.

A. Clarke defeated R. Sims 6—2, 1—6, 6—0.

J. K. Orr, Jr., defeated Jennings 6—3, 6—3.

Hallman defeated Matthews 6—2, 6—2.

Wilson defeated Martin 6—3, 6—3.

Semi-Finals.

J. K. Orr defeated A. Clarke 6—2, 6—3.

Hallman defeated Tom Wilson 6—2, 6—1.

Today's Play.

In the singles this afternoon at 4 o'clock C. Y. Smith, the winner of the challenge tourney, will meet Nat Thornton, the present champion, who has two legs upon the cup.

The result of this contest is doubtful. Thornton has been showing good form throughout the tournament while the work of Smith has been a little off, up until yesterday, when he showed his old-time form against Ed Carter. The two men play almost an opposite kind of game. Thornton plays a net game whenever he is able to reach the net, although he is good on the back courts. With Smith he plays a back-court game entirely, rarely ever advancing, as it is hard to use his stroke except from the back court.

The consolation will also take place this afternoon and the championship in doubles Saturday afternoon.

STEWART MAIDEN HAS TOUGH LUCK

Atlanta Professional Forced to Qualify for British Title in Rain—Scores Were Good Under Conditions.

Hoy Lake, England, June 19.—Qualifying rounds of the British open golf championship started today in a downpour of rain.

Stewart Maiden of Atlanta, Ga., was among the unfortunate early starters and could not do better than 82 strokes in the first round. Later he made a score of 79 in the second round. Michael J. Brady of Westlaston, Mass., returned a score of 81.

The conditions improved later in the day. Alec Smith, of the Wykagyl Country club, New Rochelle, N. Y., made 79 strokes. His score, however, was beaten by several of the British players. John J. McDermott of Atlantic City, American national champion, did 79 strokes.

There is an entry of 269 players for the championship.

Michael J. Brady made the second round in 81 strokes, Alec Smith in 82 and Alec Campbell in 79.

John J. McDermott was the only American who qualified today to compete in the championship rounds. Three other Americans play in the qualifying rounds on Saturday.

GEORGIA-ALABAMA

Newnan 13, Gadsden 8.

Newnan, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Newnan jumped on the league leaders today, winning in a slugging match by the score of 13 to 8. The locals came from behind in the seventh, piling up six runs under a fusillade of hits, including a homer and two doubles. The game was featured by the bombarding given the two Gadsden twirlers. 21 hits being registered against them. Pitcher Rice, of Newnan, getting four singles out of five times up.

Score by innings	R.	H.	E.
Newnan	002 000 62x—13	21	4
Gadsden	030 012 200— 8	13	0

Opelika Wins Two.

LaGrange, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Opelika won both ends of a double-header from LaGrange today, the first game 5 to 1 and the second 3 to 2. Umpire McFarland's decisions in the second game, which was played under protest by the LaGrange team, so enraged the local fans that it took police protection to continue the game. Kid Brannen, the LaGrange manager, took his team off the field at the end of the fourth inning and refused to play with McFarland umpiring, but reconsidered and played under protest.

Fan Tears Hundred-Dollar Bill in Half; Heinie Gets Other Half on His Behavior

Chicago, June 19.—Heinie Zimmerman, the hard-hitting third baseman of the Chicago Nationals, will receive a $100 bill from an enthusiastic admirer if he can behave on the baseball field for the next two weeks. The bill, cut in two, was sent to the sporting editor of a local newspaper by a follower of the game and one-half of it was handed to the belligerent ball player today. It is worthless without the other half, which Heinie will receive if he avoids being put out of the game by the umpire during the next few days.

The maker of this unique proposition said in his letter that weeks of living in harmony with umpires will do everybody a lot of good, Zimmerman most of all.

So far this season, Zimmerman has been put out of the game five times and fined on three of the jobs.

"Hand me half of that bill and watch me get the other half," said Zimmerman, when told of the offer. "I'm through fussing with umpires, anyway, and don't intend to be put out of the game again this season. I'll be a model on the ball field hereafter."

CREWS TOOK LITTLE PRACTICE TUESDAY

Poughkeepsie, N. Y. June 19.—A stiff wind swept up the Poughkeepsie course late this afternoon and but very little work was done by the crews which Saturday will participate in the intercollegiate rowing championships.

The Wisconsin and Cornell crews practiced starts and short spurts and the Syracuse four-oared crew took a short spin. The crews from Pennsylvania, Washington and Columbia were kept off the water.

Weather in the Columbia freshmen, cut his foot badly with an ax this afternoon, but the injury is not expected to keep him out of the races Saturday.

Crimson and Blue Eights Ready for Annual Struggle; Harvard Rules Favorite

New London, Conn., June 19.—With the Harvard clan confident and the Yale adherents dubious, the night before the annual regatta lacked many of the features which have heretofore made these gatherings famous. A drizzle which turned to a heavy rain, left the crowds cramped.

After this afternoon's showing Harvard enthusiasts were claiming a clean sweep on the Thames tomorrow. The work of the Elis institutes hope or encouragement for the blue cohorts. It was conceded that the Yale shell situation was at best an experiment.

There was hardly a dollar of Yale backing to be found.

Harvard's confidence was increased when Harvard won the toss in each event and selected the west course for all three races.

"NOT GUILTY"—PELKEY; TRIAL HAS STARTED

Jury Must Rule on Boxing Contest or Prize Fight. Jury Is Chosen.

Calgary, Alberta, June 19.—Arthur Pelkey, pugilist, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned for trial for the death of Luther McCarty, who died in the ring during a fight with Pelkey.

The six men chosen for the jury, completed shortly after noon, are prominent citizens of Calgary. They are A. E. James, George Bryden, J. D. McAra, H. W. Riley, former member provincial parliament, A. M. Berriman and J. A. Bowler.

An agreement was made before the trial began that the jury would have to agree whether the fatal contest of May 24 was a boxing match or a prize fight. Then Prosecutor James Short, in addressing the jury, asserted that the blow aimed by Pelkey struck McCarty on the jaw and dislocated his neck, causing death.

"If a boxing contest," said he, "Pelkey might not be guilty; if a prize fight, it was illegal and Pelkey, if he struck the blow, was guilty of manslaughter."

Woodward Sweepstakes Will Be Feature Event at Motordrome Meet

The program for Saturday night's races at the Atlanta motordrome has been arranged and it looks, on paper to be quite the best of the season.

The 10-mile grind, paced, and possibly three heats of a novice race will be run. The feature event Saturday has been named the Woodward sweepstakes, in honor of the mayor. The other big event will be the third motordrome purse.

MADDOX DEPLORES CANDLER'S ATTACK ON CARNEGIE GIFT

In defending the $1,000,000 gift of Andrew Carnegie to the medical department of Vanderbilt university, ex-Senator Robert L. Maddox strongly deplores the attack made upon it by Bishop Warren A. Candler and also pays a high tribute to Chancellor J. H. Kirkland, of Vanderbilt, who was one of the men who was instrumental in securing the gift.

Senator Maddox is the Georgia member of the board of trust of Vanderbilt; declares that the medical department which Bishop Candler contends that the school is trying to "denature" is badly in need of funds and that nobody knows this better than the men in actual touch with conditions. Mr. Maddox also declares that a majority of the members of the board of trust are in favor of accepting the money.

STATE CONVENTION 'TO DISCUSS W. & A.

with the mines to operate it, he could affect freight rates throughout the whole southeastern territory.

Mr. Candler said that for two years past the railroad commission had required the lessee to make a separate report on the Western & Atlantic item. He cited figures to show that, even if the privately owned railroads divided up all the profits, as the lessee states they do, as had been threatened, the local business alone would be sufficient to make the road a valuable addition to the state's paying proposition.

The entirely intrastate traffic now done by the road, he continued, "now amounts to 50 per cent of the total. This traffic originating at points along the line to points outside of the state and intrastate traffic originating at points to points along the line will easily amount to another $3,000 per mile, making the gross takes $6,000 per mile and many railroads in the east are now doing business on less than $7,000 per mile gross."

Mr. Candler declared that with state operation it would be impossible for the railroads to divert shipments from the Western & Atlantic, as they wanted to, for under the ruling of the interstate commerce commission, shippers had the right to route their shipments as they chose.

Lenas to Government Ownership.

The speaker went so far as to declare that the operation of railroads was primarily a public function and that the whole system of private ownership was wrong.

"Private interests have assumed public functions in order to exploit the public for private gain," he said.

James H. Gray, the next speaker, took sharp issue with Mr. Candler as to the operation of the road. He did not believe in state operation, but a release of the road for a long term that would enable the lessee to build terminals and make other greatly needed improvements. He would never consent to see the state road used as a club to beat down freight rates. While he had not given the subject very thorough consideration, he was rather inclined to favor the proposed extension to the sea.

Other speakers on the program was Hooper Alexander. His speech was a review of the position he had taken in regard to the disposition of the road for the last ten years and a reiteration of his views on the subject, which are generally known.

At the conclusion of the meeting President Moore announced that he would appoint the committee of five called for by Mr. McKinney's resolution within the next day or two.

AT THE THEATERS.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

There has been such an interest in the Keith vaudeville program at the Forsyth this week that one looking in on an audience would almost imagine that the period was in the height of a regular theatrical season. Instead of the hot weather of the streets just now—it is cooler at the Forsyth than out on the streets, a fact one can test for themselves.

Bud Fisher is the headliner, and the creator of "Mutt and Jeff" is making some interesting sketches.

The bill for the week that starts with matinee on Monday promises to be one of the genuine novelty programs of the season. The headliner will be Gertrude Vanderbilt and George Moore, "Dell" the famous diver and swimmer, is also on the bill and will entertain with a series of new dives and swimming stunts.

"Quo Vadis."

(At the Grand.)

"Quo Vadis," that sensational masterpiece in modern photo plays, will continue at the Grand with matinee and night performances today and Saturday and because of the tremendous interest that has been evidenced since the real beauties of the picture became circulated, Jake Wells, from his New York office, has arranged to have the special exhibition of the triumphs at the Grand another week, starting with matinee on Monday afternoon.

Ministers of the gospel have been among the caravan of visitors to view "Quo Vadis," and the theatergoer, too, has been enthusiastic in encouraging people to see the wonderful pictures. The advance sale for all the performances this and next week is on at the Grand from 8 a. m. daily.

"The Merry Whirl."

(At the Bijou.)

One of the best tabloid musical comedies of the season is promised next week at the Bijou in the engagement of "The Merry Whirl," a musical revue presented by a company of twenty-five people, mostly girls. The plot of the piece is laid in the land of fun—Germany and a Hebrew to the Paris exposition. Their experiences and troubles make no end of wholesome amusement. The leading principals include Marjorie Lake, the woman with the phenominal baritone voice; Lindsaston and Dawson, the eccentric dancers; Sol Carter, the Hebrew comedian; Lew Miller and Harry Loader, German comedians. The chorus has the reputation of being the prettiest and well drilled and the musical numbers of the catchy and tuneful kind that demand numerous encores.

AMERICAN DELEGATES SWARMING IN GERMANY

Berlin, June 19.—There is a great array of American delegates of various branches of activity in Germany at the present moment. The members of the American commission on agricultural organization, co-operation and rural credits, were officially welcomed in the capital this morning, while 300 members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, accompanied by their families, arrived in Hamburg today, to spend a three-day trip to various German cities and to attend the convention of the German Engineering association at Leipsic from June 22 to June 24.

The agricultural delegates were received in the Prussian house of lords today by Count Von Schwerin, the president of the German agrarian council. Clarence Ousley, of Fort Worth, Texas, replied for the Americans. The members spent the day investigating economic and industrial uses of alcohol, which is an important German farming product.

BURNS CLUB BARBECUE WAS JOYOUS AFFAIR

Everyone was happy at the Burns club barbecue last Wednesday. It was ladies' day and some 200 ladies, gentlemen and children joined in the festivities at the Burns club grounds.

Out-of-door sports and games of all kinds filled the time of the picnickers until dinner was served them to shelter. Then a most enjoyable program was rendered in the Burns club cottage, including dancing and songs. Mrs. Frank Peabody and solos were rendered by all and Mr. Galloway, a recent comer from Scotland, proved himself a jolly entertainer.

There were several speeches by prominent Scots, all of them featured by a tribute to Burns. Among the speakers were Madam Stanza W. Buck, Judge Arthur Powell and Dr. Lynden, of Athens. A. A. Craig, the bonnie Scotch of Hapeville, was among the merrymakers.

The committee in charge of the affair included H. M. McWhirter, Alexander Taylor and C. W. Smith.

WHITE EDUCATORS TALK TO NEGRO TEACHERS

Teachers should live in the communities where they teach, and build up schools that will become centers of education," said Superintendent of Schools William Slaton in the feature address of Thursday's meeting of the Georgia Association of Teachers in Negro Schools.

Today's program includes an address by Dr. A. M. Soule, of the State College of Agriculture, and Prof. John W. Hubert of White Plains, Ga., will tell of the work done by the schools in Hancock county. The Hillman farm of 5,000 acres is the personal property of Prof. Hubert, as is the school farm proper, and each is educating in an effective way negro boys and girls.

The public is cordially invited to attend today's session of the Colored School Teachers association in Morehouse college, formerly known as the Atlanta Baptist college, beginning at 9 oclock this morning.

SUBSCRIPTIONS ARE STILL COMING IN FOR YANCEY FUND

Subscriptions are still being turned in for the benefit of the family of Deputy Dave Yancey, who was cut to death Monday by a negro thief whom he was trying to arrest, and the prospects now are that the family of a widow and six young children will have their home on the Jonesboro road purchased for them at $900 and be given a small sum to start them out in life.

Many donors added to their subscriptions Thursday and another feature of the aid to the stricken family was that of the Atlanta dealers who contributed flour and meat and lard and scores of other eatables.

While the money has not yet been counted, as it is in about four separate divisions, it is estimated that the sum has mounted over $900, which will pay for the home. Sheriff C. W. Mangum has already over $500 in the bank and the subscribers have various sums which have been sent to them for the family whose pitiful condition has appealed to Atlantians.

The need for something more than the sum required for the purchase of the home place becomes more apparent every day and Atlantians in the Yancey family are urging that others who have not yet subscribed make a donation, no matter how small.

VETERAN OF MELDRIM IS BURNED TO DEATH WHILE LYING IN BED

Savannah, Ga., June 19.—In a fire which completely destroyed his home, J. M. Futch, an old confederate veteran, was burned to death last night at Meldrim, Ga.

Mrs. Futch, his wife, was aroused just in time to make her escape with a small child before the flames overtook her.

The old man was stricken with paralysis a short time ago, and was confined to his bed. In his feeble condition he was unable to get out of the burning house before the flames reached his bed.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

During the civil war he was wounded in one of the battles near Chickamauga, by a minnie ball which struck him in the head. While he recovered from the wound, his injury was permanent, and he has been practically incapacitated.

THEIR MILLIONS GONE, THEY KILLED SELVES

Zurich, Switzerland, June 19.—The mystery surrounding the suicide last Thursday of Eugene Maggi, reputed one of the wealthiest men in Switzerland, and his wife, has been cleared up by the discovery among Maggi's papers of a letter to his family saying he had been irretrievably returned financially and had decided to kill himself. Underneath this message, in his wife's handwriting was the following:

"I believed myself rich and I was happy. Eugene has just revealed to me that we are ruined and demanded his determination to die. My duty is to follow him in death. Adieu."

An investigation has confirmed the fact that Maggi had lost his fortune.

When Maggi and his wife were found dead as a result of gas asphyxiation in their villa here it was believed their suicide had been prompted by the fact that although their wealth was estimated at $10,000,000 they were greatly disappointed because they were childless. Mrs. Maggi was the owner of extensive flour mills in Zurich and other parts of Switzerland and had numerous other widespread interests.

20,000 MEN LOCKED OUT BY CHICAGO BUILDERS

Chicago, June 19.—The lockout of twenty thousand men engaged in the building trade here recently threatened by contractors who are putting up buildings in the downtown district became effective today. The lockout followed refusal of 150 striking stone masons to return to work.

Officials of the Building Trades council declared that they would retaliate by calling a strike and stopping building construction throughout the city.

Kansas City, June 19.—Construction of a number of buildings help up last week by a lockout against 1,500 members of the Building Trades council by the Building Construction Employers' association was resumed here today with non-union labor.

The Rev. Maynard E. Green, pastor of the Bethany Congregational church, St. Louis, and S. B. Davidson and Thomas R. Sullivan, of Kansas City, members of the stockholders' committee of $500,000 each here today on a charge of blockading the street while speaking at a curb socialist meeting last night.

50,000 VETS EXPECTED TO BE AT GETTYSBURG

Washington, June 19.—Secretary Garrison today asked the congressional military committee to guarantee an additional appropriation to take care of the union and confederate veterans at the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, July 1 to 4, 1913.

Those in charge of the celebration notified the secretary that 50,000 veterans would be there instead of 40,000, as at first anticipated.

To provide for the subsistence, medicines and general care for the increased number about $25,000 more than the $150,000 appropriated will be needed. Secretary Breckenridge has gone to Gettysburg to canvass the situation.

KENNESAW PAPER MILL SOLD TO J. N. GODDARD

Marietta, June 19.—(Special.)—The Kennesaw paper mills was sold at public outcry today to J. N. Goddard for $89,000. The same party got 630 acres of land, lying six miles from Marietta at the old paper mill on Sopes Creek, for $17.20 per acre, and three residences in the city here for $4,200.

C. M. Page bought the electric light plant, this being a part of the property of the former corporation owning the paper mill, for $16,000, and the old waterworks plant for $15,000. Plans for operating the system under the new administration have not yet been completed but it is understood the paper mill will continue to run.

BURLESON IS URGED TO APPOINT AUSTIN

As Superintendent of Railway Mail Division—Many Congressmen Favor Austin.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 19.—(Special.)—One of the biggest congressional delegations that ever called on a cabinet officer to indorse an applicant for promotion, visited Postmaster General Burleson this morning to urge the selection of W. L. M. Austin, of Atlanta, as superintendent of the railway mail service for the fourth division.

Senator Smith, Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, headed the delegation. Representatives Howard, Crisp, Hughes, Hardwick and Goddenberry, of Georgia, and all the representatives from South Carolina and Florida now in the city, called in a body.

Mr. Austin, who was present, was much elated at the formidable array of backers, which testified to the widespread knowledge of his record of efficiency.

During the Hitchcock administration of the postoffice department, Mr. Austin made an application for advancement to succeed George W. Pepper, in the event the latter was transferred to the Atlanta division. Instead of being promoted, he was demoted and deprived of $400 a year salary.

Announcement was made today that Robert Barry, of New York, has been signated as chief inspector of the Atlanta division to succeed George M. Sutton.

HUNDREDS TO ATTEND BIG BIRTHDAY PARTY OF MAJOR J. A. BLANCE

Cedartown, Ga., June 19.—(Special.) Tomorrow at his beautiful country home, "Rural Retreat," Major Joseph A. Blance will be the gracious host to about three hundred of his friends, most of whom have been life long ones, the occasion being a celebration in honor of his 75th birthday. The guests will be composed of the Polk County Bar association, the confederate veterans, Sons of the Confederacy, Daughters of the Confederacy and many intimate friends and family relations.

The celebration will be an all-day gathering. A famous Georgia barbecue will be served at the picnic.

Judge F. A. Irwin, judge of the city court of Polk county, and at one time a law partner of Major Blance, will preside as master of ceremonies. As a token of their love and respect for Major Blance the Polk County Bar association will present him with a beautiful silver loving cup.

ARPEAL IS GRANTED TO LABOR LEADERS

Washington, June 19.—Chief Justice White today granted an appeal from the supreme court for Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, labor leaders convicted of contempt of court in the noted Bucks Stove and Range case. The appeal will be heard after October.

The three officials were held in contempt by the supreme court of the District of Columbia for violating an injunction against boycotting the Bucks Stove and Range company. Upon complaint by the company, the court sentenced Gompers to a year in jail; Mitchell to nine months and Morrison to six months. The supreme court of the United States set aside all the sentences because the contempt proceedings were brought to the name of the stove company. Thereupon the district supreme court appointed a committee to bring contempt proceedings in the name of the United States was done, and later the same sentences were imposed as in the first instance. The court of appeals of the district recently reduced these sentences to one month's imprisonment for Gompers and to $500 fines for the other defendants.

For several weeks applications for a review of the cases had been pending in the supreme court.

FOOD AND DRUG MEN HEADED BY WALLIS

Mobile, Ala., June 19.—The American Association of Dairy, Food and Druz Officials concluded their two days' session here this evening, naming officers and decidding to meet next year at Kinco, on Mosquito Lake, Maine.

Resolutions were adopted that the association use its influence to secure a law standardizing the strength of proprietary medicines, which are now recognized by the United States Pharmacopeia.

Another resolution passed unanimously seeks a new method of labeling food and drugs "guaranteed under the pure food and drugs act of 1906" so that the "label may have a meaning."

James H. Wallis, of Idaho, president; I. Sa Shortt, of Texas, first vice president; S. E. Strode, of Ohio, second vice president; S. C. Dinsmore, of Nevada, third vice president; H. F. Potter, of Connecticut, secretary, and A. M. Allen.

The following officers were named: of North Carolina, secretary.

Members of the executive committee: Joel C. Winkger, Minnesota, three years; W. S. Barney, Iowa, two years; H. E. Barnard, Indiana, one year.

DR. V. C. VAUGHN HEADS MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Minneapolis, Minn., June 19.—The American Medical association this afternoon elected the following officers:

President, Dr. Victor C. Vaughn, Ann Arbor, Mich., dean of the medical school of the University of Michigan.

Vice presidents, Dr. Walter Conway, Atlantic City, N. J.; Dr. Frank C. Todd, Indianapolis; Dr. William South, Bowling Green, Ky.; Dr. S. G. Kahn, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Secretary, Dr. Alexander Craig, Chicago.

Treasurer, Dr. William Allen Pusy, Chicago.

Atlantic City was chosen for the convention.

DODGEN INDICTED FOR LARCENY AFTER TRUST

James H. Dodgen, a local attorney, was indicted yesterday by the Fulton grand jury on the charge of larceny after trust, it being charged that he accepted a bill of sale from John Wilson, a negro, on the latters furniture to raise $20, and then let the negro go to jail without defending him from a charge of gaming.

The negro claims that Attorney Dodgen was to defend him for the money he received from the furniture, while the attorney asserts that he had a right to the money for a former debt.

HE THROWS SELF BEFORE HORSE

Religious Maniac Trampled at Ascot and Prevents Belmont's Horse Winning. King Sees Act of Madman.

Ascot, England, June 19.—The race for the Ascot gold cup, one of the most coveted prizes of the English turf, was marred today by an incident similar to that which brought the king's horse down in the derby, when Emily Wilding Davison sought and found death in the cause of the militant suffragettes. In this case it was a man, Harold Hewitt, who emulated Miss Davison's feat.

According to the Ascot police Hewitt was not connected with the suffragettes, but was of unsound mind and of a type peculiarly liable to be carried away by the imitative impulse. He suffered the same penalty for his temerity as did Miss Davison—a fracture at the base of the skull.

At a late hour tonight Hewitt was lying unconscious in a hospital, after undergoing an operation in the forlorn hope that his life might be saved.

King and Queen Present.

King George and Queen Mary, ex-King Manuel of Portugal, the crown prince and princess of Sweden, the duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada and Princess Patricia and a number of lesser royalties were watching the race from the royal stand.

Coming down the straight, August Belmont's famous cold Tracery, a son of Rock Sand, shot into the lead. He was going like a well-oiled piece of machinery and soon had the nearest horse several lengths behind. Surprisingly Tracery was assured of an easy victory.

Suddenly a man jumped from the rails waving a red flag with one hand and with the other pointing a revolver at Jockey Whalley, who had the mount on Tracery.

"Pull up! Pull up or I'll shoot you" the man shouted.

Whalley did his best to divert the horse's course, but failed. Tracery, striking the man full in the chest with his shoulder, sent him flying several yards and came down on his nose. Whalley shot clear out of the saddle, but being an adept at taking a toss, fell on his back and rolled to safety under the rails.

Meantime the other horses came thundering on, one of them giving the author of all the trouble, who lay sprawling, a terrible kick on the head in passing.

King Sent for Jockey.

Save for some bruises Whalley was uninjured and when the king sent for him he walked stiffly to the royal box to receive congratulations on his escape.

Hewitt is about 50 years of age. According to the police he is a cultured man, having been educated at Harrow and Cambridge and is possessed of independent means. He has, however, shown evidences of religious mania. A Bible was found on him, the fly leaves of which were full of quotations. Also he had a diary in which the last entry was made a few hours before his mad act. It read: "Oh, the weariness of these races. If I can get a chance I'll go to stop the gold cup I hope I shall not hurt any of these jockeys. These races bring out all that is worst in humanity."

In another entry he refers to his intention to "protest against society."

The Ascot cup was won by the five-year-old Prince Palatine, owned by F. Pitkington. The race was at two and a half miles, with 3,500 sovereigns added.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN CUSTOMS SERVICE

McAdoo Sends Instructions Regarding Reorganizations. Many Collectors Lose.

Washington, June 19.—The first step toward the sweeping reorganization of the customs service which goes into effect on July 1, was taken today when Secretary McAdoo sent detailed instructions to collectors and officers of customs throughout the country.

With the reduction of the number of customs districts from 162 to 46 the keynote of the new resolution is concentration. Final appraisal of importations will be made by the appraising officer at each port with the exception of duties deposited and the merchandise immediately released. The appraisal will then be sent to the collector of customs at the head of the district, where final liquidation will be made. In questions of classification, the decision of the deputy collectors in charge of each port will be tentative, the collector at district headquarters making final decision.

Under the new regulations, the authority of the customs naval officers will be extended so that they will examine the accounts of the entire district. No change is made in the duties of the surveyors of customs.

One hundred and thirteen collectors automatically will lose their jobs on July 1.

Under the new plan the headquarters of the district of Georgia will be at Savannah, and deputy collectors will be stationed at Atlanta, Brunswick and Darien.

UNKNOWN MAN KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS BY AUTO

Machine Driven by J. L. Hughes Hits Aged Man—No Arrest Made.

An unknown man, apparently 60 years old, was struck by an automobile at Whitehall and Mitchell streets last night and as a result is lying in a desperate condition at Grady hospital, suffering probable contusions of the brain.

He was unable to talk and no papers could be found in his pockets by which his identity could be ascertained. The accident was declared by a number of eye-witnesses to have been entirely unavoidable.

The automobile was driven by J. L. Hughes of 380 Peachtree street. His statement told to the police was that he was traveling at an exceptionally slow rate and that while coming over the crossing at Mitchell and Whitehall streets the victim darted in the path of his car in an attempt to avoid another machine.

Before Mr. Hughes could stop, he said, the left front wheel struck the aged man. He straddled the tire and fell backward to the pavement. The machine was stopped before the injured man was run over.

No arrest was made.

80 GIRLS BURNED BY MAD LABORERS

Horror in Russia Follows the Importation of Girl Labor. The Victims Are Cremated While Asleep in Barn.

St. Petersburg, June 19.—Eighty women were burned to death today by villagers enraged at the importation of cheap girl labor to work on a sugar estate in the district of Piriatin, in the province of Poltava, southern Russia, according to the Kiev newspaper Liamia.

The excited villagers first securely fastened all the means of exit from a wooden barn in which the girls were housed. They then set fire to the building while the inmates were asleep and all were burned to death without a chance to escape.

ATLANTA IS HELD UP AS SHINING EXAMPLE

Eastman, Ga., June 18.—(Special.)—That Chief Bowers has a secret and that Atlanta's stand on the vice question will eventually be adopted by cities over the entire nation was the assertion made before the Epworth league conference here last night by Rev. Mervin Culbreth of Nashville, Tenn., one of the general secretaries of the league movement.

In a striking address on the subject, "Modern Movements for Social Betterment," he mentioned the crusade that is going on in different places, and said:

"But stand Atlanta, your splendid capital city, has taken on this question is one that is approved by all men who have the best interests of the masses at heart."

His idea was that Atlanta is ahead of the age, and that Chief Bowers is a seer who is leading beyond his own day and generation. Under the chief's leadership, the speaker said, Atlanta is taking the scriptural position and is seeking to destroy wrong instead of segregating it.

"This is bound to come," said Mr. Culbreth, "just as surely as we have seen smallpox and yellow fever eradicated, and it is only a question of time when we have the whole race free from this Babylonian iniquity. Atlanta has shown that this is possible and she has set the pace for the rest of the country. The nation will yet follow the example of this splendid city."

Mr. Culbreth predicted that national prohibition was assured. It may be delayed, but it is certain to come, he said. Under the new order of things the welfare of the people is the end toward which the government is looking.

APPOINTIVE OFFICERS OF RED MEN ARE NAMED

Columbus, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—The thirty-fourth annual session of the great council, Georgia Independent Order of Red Men, held its concluding session this morning, disposing of the remaining business on the program and adjourned. Newman; great guard of the forest, H. Ivey; great guard of the wigwam, J. F. Bush; board of appeals, G. F. Barrett; orphans' board, H. Gavorouski, D. E. Green and J. T. Collier; finance committee, E. H. Griffin, Jessie B. Lee and J. W. Smythe; trustees, P. J. McGuire, H. B. Coke and B. L. Patterson; mileage and per diem, J. C. Brown, T. H. Bright and W. P. Hindeman.

SMALL-SIZED CYCLONE SWEEPS SOUTH GEORGIA

Moultrie Church Is Blown Down While Stores and Residences in Coolidge Are Unroofed.

Thomasville, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Reports from around the county show several sections visited late yesterday afternoon by a storm of cyclonic proportions, which did considerable damage. Tracts of timber were blown down and telephone communication was cut off in many sections.

In Coolidge many stores and houses were unroofed, the new seed house to the ginnery was blown down and the gin partly demolished. The electric light plant was damaged. Nearly all lines of the Home Rural Telephone company are down. No lives are reported lost.

Moultrie Church Demolished.

Moultrie, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—This city was visited last night by a severe wind, rain and electric storm, which did great damage. A mission church in the eastern part of the city was completely demolished, the telephone system put out of business and the electric light plant rendered useless for some time. Rain fell in torrents and the streets resembled lakes. Telegraph wires were down. All damage has been repaired save the damage to corn which was blown down. Other crops were not injured. Reports from Coolidge, 14 miles south of here, indicate that the storm was more intense there than in other sections and great damage resulted.

Tallahassee Struck.

Tallahassee, Fla., June 19.—A tornado, veering into a cyclone, swept over this city late yesterday, unroofing the state capitol and many stores, ruining the stock of merchants, tearing trees out by the roots and twisting telegraph, telephone and electric light poles off at the base, plunging the city into darkness and cutting off communication with the outside world for hours. The paper stock of the state printer in the capitol was ruined and the type piled.

The flood of rain, mud and hail swept across the county, killing and maiming live stock, damaging the cotton and corn crops and razing buildings.

About twenty persons were injured more or less severely, a majority being negroes. One aged negro was crushed under a barn two miles from the city and died from his injuries this morning. No white person was killed.

Damage at Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., June 19.—Considerable damage was done along the Mobile water front last night by a storm which lasted but a few minutes, during which the wind reached a high velocity. The Norwegian bark Francis Hastup was torn from her moorings, the schooner M. J. Taylor broke her lines and crushed into the schooner M. A. Achorn and the river steamer Chastine May, in course of construction, was blown across the river and badly damaged. A portion of the roof of the new municipal shed was blown off. The temperature dropped ten degrees in fifteen minutes.

ALABAMA BANK SUED TO RECOVER $107,500

Decatur, Ala., June 19.—Spring & Co., of New York, today filed suit here against the old First National bank which did never any business. It is claimed this was paid out on fraudulent bills of ladings, with drafts attached, issued by the cotton firm of Lockett, Harvey & Co., which recently failed. The bank was liquidated some time ago and all the depositors paid, leaving the stockholders as the sole defenders in the present suit.

TARIFF RATE POWER GIVEN TO PRESIDENT

Clause Resembling Maximum and Minimum Adopted—Measure Ready for Caucus.

Washington, June 19.—An amendment to the Underwood tariff bill adopted today by the majority members of the senate finance committee would give the president of the United States authority to suspend certain rates in the proposed law and to proclaim special rates against nations which discriminate against products of the United States.

The amendment is appended to the clause giving the president authority to negotiate reciprocity agreements with other nations, and in some respects resembles the maximum and minimum clause of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law eliminated in the house bill. In substance the amendment would provide that when any nation discriminates against the products of the United States or imposes restrictions upon United States exports, or does not, in the opinion of the president, reciprocate in trade relations, the president may by proclamation suspend certain rates and put in effect other rates.

Only Specified Articles.

Only specified articles, it is understood, are to be included under the terms of this amendment and the retaliatory rates are also specified also. Among the articles included in the list upon which the president might suspend rates are fish, wheat, wheat flour, coffee, hops, tobacco, sugars and molasses, the duties prescribed vary as to the different articles. Fish, it is reported, would be dutiable at 1 cent a pound, wheat at 10 cents a bushel, flour at 45 cents a barrel, a few cents per pound on coffee and tea. On other items the penalty would be a double rate. Articles which are specified also,

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL NEWS OF DAY

TENDENCY OF COTTON TO BECOME EASIER

But There Were Frequent Rallies and the Market Closed Steady.

New York, June 19.—The cotton market was somewhat unsettled again today, with prices showing a tendency to ease off, owing to a favorable report of new crop conditions, but with sufficient support around the ring to cause frequent rallies. The close was steady at a net decline of 1 to 5 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 to 5 points, in response to lower cables, overnight selling orders and renewed realizing by houses with European connections who were supposed to be unduing straddles. Weather conditions were considered generally satisfactory and there was some southern selling here, under which prices eased off to a net loss of about $ to 10 points during the morning.

This carried October contracts off to 11.49 and the big price there were indications that some of the people with European connections, who had been sellers for profits here previously were beginning to rebuy. The support from this source, combined with an increased demand from local bulls and covering by early sellers, rallied the market during the middle of the day, with the active months recovering to about the closing figures of last night.

Reports that boll weevil were appearing numerously in Arkansas and some scattering complaints of excessive temperatures in the eastern belt helped the rally, but offerings later showed a continued tendency to take profits on long cotton and closing prices were a point or two off from the best.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands 12.35; do, gulf 12.60; sales, 39 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, June 19.—The volume of trade in cotton today was light. Neither side was aggressive and after a short session, owing to a small arrivals. News from the belt was bearish on the whole, but the trade did little buying. Leading bull interests, which have been furnishing the rise with their buying orders of late, appeared to be making their profits at every opportunity.

On the opening, the tone was steady and prices were unchanged to 1 point lower, compared with the last quotations of the week, with July and August sold at 12.30, October at 11.49, December at 11.54, January at 11.56, March at 11.66 and May at 11.71. Trade was dull during the first hour and prices showed little change from the opening figures. Private cables from Liverpool were bearish, reporting a decline of 1 to 6 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, June 19.—Cotton goods market today were steady, but quiet. Diverse members of cotton yarn were firm in price, but many manufactures are looking about for prices before placing orders. Print cloths were in good position of resistance downward from 4 to 10 per cent, and some were a little higher with the demand better.

WHEAT DECLINED ON GOOD CROP NEWS

Market Closed Weak at Loss of Over One Cent—Corn Lower.

Chicago, June 19.—Bountiful returns from harvest fields in Kansas, where farmers thought the wheat crop almost ruined by drouth, were sent the market today decidedly down grade. The close was weak at a loss of 1 1-8 to 1 1-4c net. Corn finished 5-8 to 5-8@3-4c off, and oats at a decline of a shade to 1-4@3-8c. In provisions the outcome varied from last night's lower to an upturn of 15c.

Cutting of wheat was general today all over Kansas and a little cutting has also been done in Nebraska. The yields reported were surprising. Advices from Wichita, Kan., told of twenty bushels to the acre and the grain was said to be heavier as the cutters worked north. In addition, the bears had notices that the Missouri crop would be of record size, largely offsetting any loss in Kansas. Good rains in North Dakota and less pessimistic tidings from South Dakota, gave early discouragement to bulls. When this condition was emphasized by reports of big shipments of new grain in the southwest weakness became so pronounced that the sale of 400,000 bushels of cash wheat here failed to check the decline in futures. More than half of the amount, too, was for export.

Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour equalled 283,000 bushels. Primary receipts of wheat were 555,000 bushels, a year ago 276,000.

Official reports of continued drought started the corn market sharply higher, but later private advices of fair rains in sections of Illinois and the southwest caused a break.

Selling from the large elevator companies overcame an excited buying flurry in oats. Unfavorable crop reports from important sections of Kansas were what stimulated the desire to purchase.

Speculative orders were mainly affected by an advance in the price of hogs. Offerings remained scanty until a fair improvement had been reached.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, June 19.—Foreign selling and further liquidation depressed the market at the opening, but prices rallied from the first decline and, with the exception of the early setback, the market ruled steady and prices advanced in the closing hours of yesterday. Outside buying again came in early in the day and the market became nervous. Heavy selling and the outlook is not wholly satisfactory. Trading was not large, but the buying is of a confident nature.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, June 19.—There was a good tone to the market at the opening, but there was little disposition to take the market for the account of anything like aggressive operations. Prices were irregular and petty operations down in very narrow limits. Cotton was bought by a few commission houses on the theory that the crop was late and that the weather map showed unfavorable conditions. Some of the buying was for October and December account. Spot houses were credited with buying. Liverpool was a seller on the opening, and it may add to the weakness. Liverpool cables to-night will be against us.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, June 19.—During the early part of the day the market was with liquidation and pressure to sell, and prices declined 15 points on the active months. After these offerings had been absorbed the market rallied on covering by shorts, prompted by reports of rain in the southwest, and some support from commission houses. The close was steady at a net decline of 1 to 5 points. Liverpool indicates an unwillingness to sell cotton here, and we follow the advance on the theory that the crop is late. Private reports from the belt indicate that the acreage is less than last year, and that the condition is poor. We look for the balance of the old crop cotton, which is now coming freely, to be marketed rapidly, and that the new crop movement will be late. We look for a good demand for spots, and it may advance sharply.

THE ADVENTURES OF DOTTO, THE WANT AD SCOUT—The Story of the Kodak

ATLANTA'S STRIDES, DAY BY DAY

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

While Thursday was a comparatively quiet day in the actual sales of real estate in Atlanta rumors of several big transactions began to appear, which it is said are now being consummated and will be ready for formal announcement as soon as actual closed. Among them is the sale of a $20,000 lot on Courtland street and one on Ponce de Leon avenue for about the same amount.

This, and the fact that inquiries are coming in with renewed vigor and despite the excessive heat of the past two days, promise more than one large sale within a short time.

One interesting announcement to holders of downtown property was that of a $12,000 improvement to be made at 93 Whitehall street on the building occupied by the Springer millinery company. The permit for alterations was taken out by John W. Grant and calls for an additional story to be added to the building and for other improvements.

The sale of a ten-acre tract south of Grant park for $15,000 was reported by the Martin-Ozburn Realty company, which has sold the tract for J. W. Hardwick and J. W. Ferguson, to a local syndicate. The land has a frontage of 296 feet on Hill street, and 1,026 feet on Harrington street, and is within the 5-mile circle. Plans are already being made for the grading and dividing of the lot into smaller plots for subdivision sales.

Announcement is also made that Postmaster Hugh L. McKee is preparing plans for a 3-story apartment house at 721 Piedmont avenue, which

MARIETTA, GA., SACRIFICE

ON CAMPBELL'S HILL, the highest point between Charleston and Chattanooga, and in the shadow of Kennesaw mountain, we have a beautiful home and 10 rooms and a bath; a little larger than an 8-room house has hot and cold water and sewerage system and is piped for gas. In fact, it is a complete city home. There is a large and well-stable and servant's house. Now, listen! This place was built a few years ago, when building cost much less than it does now, yet these buildings alone cost more than twice the amount we are offering this place at today.

Price $3,850.00. Terms can be made. We will consider Atlanta property in exchange.

Photograph of place on display in our office. A look at it will convince you. Remember, this is one of the nicest places in Cobb county.

NEW LEAF TURNED BY LOBBY PROBERS

a committee for the wholesale grocers of the United States'" asked Senator Cummins.

"I didn't," said the witness. "I selected a committee for the people of the United States."

Wanted Pressure on Underwood.

Senator Cummins read a telegram from Lowry to West Tubbs, secretary of the American Society of Equity, Madison, Wis., saying:

"It is of the utmost importance that you immediately telegraph Oscar W. Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee, or your congressman in Washington, impressing upon them the importance of taking immediate action toward a reduction in the duty on sugar. Secure the co-operation of as many others as possible in doing this. Immediate action is necessary."

A circular letter from Lowry reading in part:

"I wired you yesterday asking you to telegraph your representative in Washington to do everything in his power to break the deadlock existing in the ways and means committee over sugar schedule. This is the kind of work that helped the cause.

"The beet sugar men have been spending a large part of their time trying to confuse the issue. I was afraid they might be successful in their efforts and therefore desired that the ways and means committee be confronted with the fact that the country as a whole was watching their efforts and would call on them for an accounting if they failed to act.

"I am satisfied they received a great number of telegrams yesterday and I privately learned last night that favorable action has been taken by the committee and that a bill will be favorably reported in the near future.

"To get the fight in the open will, of course, be a great satisfaction to us all."

"Don't you call that a lobby?" asked Senator Cummins.

"It is not a lobby at all—that is the direct primary idea," said Lowry.

"Did you have any matter sent out in 'plates'?" asked Senator Cummins.

Fell for It Just Once.

"I only fell for that once," said the witness. About three years ago, he said, a New York firm offered to supplate matter in papers and that afterwards they cut articles in "plate" in 122 papers. For this Lowry paid $300.

"There was nothing in the articles to show that they were coming from the Federal Sugar Refining company?"

"No, sir."

Charles R. Warren, president and general manager of the Michigan Sugar company, was the last witness to exhibit. Mr. Warren identified letters read into the record as part of the correspondence of C. H. Hamlin, Lowry's chairman. Questioned by Senator Walsh about one letter regarding the purchase of lands near the Chicago Interocean, Warren said that he had received such a letter from Hamlin, but that neither he nor the Michigan company had purchased any land.

Warren said that at one time he held stock in the Michigan company for the American Sugar Refining company, but not now. He said that since 1904 the so-called trust had held more than 42 per cent of the Michigan stock, but that choice of this stock had been sold to reduce the trust's holdings to about 33 per cent. This was done, he said, to prevent any complications under the Sherman law.

Questioned about his appearances, Senator Cummins suggested that he had been here at least half. Warren agreed, saying he was a member of the executive committee of the republican national committee and had been here at a meeting of that body.

Sugar and the Associated Press.

At the morning session, Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, took the stand at his own request and put into the record his correspondence with C. H. Hamlin, of Colorado Springs, Colo., concerning publicity which the beet sugar interests hoped to get through the Associated Press.

Hamlin's letters had been read into the committee's record two days ago after having been subpoenaed from the files of the United States Beet Sugar industry.

Mr. Stone presented all his letters and records bearing on the demands of the beet sugar interests for publicity through the news association. He testified that October 12, 1911, Edwin Arbuckle, a sugar refiner, when leaving for Europe, had given out a statement favoring free raw sugar.

That interview was carried by the Associated Press, he said. On October 15, a short interview given out by Clarence C. Hamlin, of Colorado Springs, answering the Arbuckle interview, was also carried by the Associated Press. The Arbuckle statement, it was contained about 1,000 words; the Hamlin statement about 150 words.

Hamlin's Letter to Stone.

Mr. Hamlin then wrote Mr. Stone asking that the beet sugar interests be given as good treatment as the sugar refiners.

Mr. Hamlin's letter was:

"I am writing you as chairman of the United States Beet Sugar Industry, an organization which includes practically all of the beet sugar interests in this country, and if anything further is necessary to give what weight I have to say credit. I would refer you to any of the papers in Denver as well as to Senator Guggenheim and Senators Clark and Warren, of Wyoming. Also to Mr. Chester W. Morrey, of Denver, president of the Great Western Sugar company, the largest beet sugar producer in the United States, with whom you are personally acquainted. I might add that I am a member of the Associated Press representing The Herald-Telegraph of this city.

"Publicity is the last thing I wish to seek personally, but in justice to the great industry which I represent, I feel justified in taking up with you in person a matter which to us is of the gravest importance. On October 15, Mr. John Arbuckle, of Arbuckle Bros., gave out a statement which was printed in full in every Associated Press newspaper of the United States concerning the sugar situation. A copy of this statement is attached hereto. The matters contained in this statement were of such great importance and some of the misrepresentations so gross that I did not feel that these statements should go unchallenged.

"I took the matter up with the local representatives of the Associated Press who followed it through the ordinary channels and was assured that the Associated Press would handle 650 words, representing the beet sugar men's position upon these questions. This statement I prepared and you will find a copy hereto attached. This is from The Denver Republican, the Colorado papers having handled it in full. The manner in which it was handled will be disclosed by the attached clipping from The Washington Post of October 16.

Not Satisfied With Story.

"Your long experience in newspaper work will cause you to see immediately that we would have been much better satisfied had the Associated Press refused to handle it entirely rather than to have it published in this abbreviated and wholly unsatisfactory manner.

"Of course, I understand the Associated Press is in no sense partisan and aims to be wholly fair to all of the great interests of the country and all that the beet sugar interests ask is that they receive the same treatment at the hands of your association as is accorded to certain refiners in New York who are pushing the free sugar propaganda with the avowed purpose of least putting a stop to the growth of the beet sugar industry.

"We certainly have no desire to burden the Associated Press with matter put out for the purpose of 'boosting' our industry, but when attacked, feel that we should be given as much publicity as is given to our opponents. At least we would like to know what our status is so far as your association is concerned. Of course, there may be something in the character of the statement given out by me which would prevent its acceptance in full, and if so you will be doing me a distinct favor by advising me in what respect this is true. Trusting you will give this serious personal consideration and thanking you in advance for anything you may be able to do in the direction of according justice to so large an industry.

"Very truly yours,

"C. C. HAMLIN."

No Authority, Says Stone.

Mr. Stone said that the local correspondent of the Associated Press at Colorado Springs had no authority to make any statement that the Associated Press would carry any statement.

"I do not know who was the correspondent at Colorado Springs," Mr. Stone added. "He may have been an employee of Mr. Hamlin's paper for all I know."

In answer to Mr. Hamlin's letter Mr. Stone wrote October 20, 1911:

"I have your letter of October 19 and note contents. I can well understand how you feel in respect to the matter. It is certainly my desire that the Associated Press shall be just and impartial in the treatment of every matter reported by it.

"The Arbuckle statement was carried, not because it was a statement of a sugar refiner, but because its bearing on the general cost of living which, as you know, has been the subject of keen interest in the United States. With the advance in the price of sugar, coffee and other necessaries, there necessarily has been much feeling on the general subject.

"When your statement in answer to Mr. Arbuckle was presented it happened to be a very busy day and night. The president of the United States was at San Francisco, the plans for Justice Harlan's funeral were made, the McNamara trial was before the country, the world's series of baseball games was in progress, a critical situation in China existed, and there was an acute political situation in Mexico. All of these things were crowding for space running from Kansas City to San Francisco and I suppose our Denver office was forced to abbreviate your statement. I am writing to the chief of our office there asking him for an explanation regarding the matter, but I can well anticipate that is what he would say.

"I fancy the matter will come up before congress and then I trust we shall be able to give you as good a hearing as those who are contending on the other side.

"Sincerely yours,

"MELVILLE E. STONE."

Stone Didn't Know Hamlin.

"I did not know Mr. Hamlin," added Stone. "The statement that he was a member of the Associated Press is true, but in meeting the 850 members of the Associated Press I did not happen to remember him and have not met him but once in my life. I suppose I must have met him here in this room at this moment."

The statement in respect to the local correspondent of the Associated Press at Colorado Springs having agreed to handle for the Associated Press 650 words I should explain in this way. The local correspondent has no power whatever to commit the Associated Press to any policy or to any agreement of that sort. His entire duty and his entire responsibility and ability in respect to the matter was comprised in the fourth he might have to our Denver office and there it would fall into the hands of a salaried correspondent and he would determine how much should be used.

"The local correspondent had no authority to commit it, and indeed, though I do not know who he was, he may have been an employe of Mr. Hamlin's own paper."

Mr. Stone read to the committee a copy of the letter he wrote to C. D. Hagerty, in charge of the Denver office of the Associated Press, October 23. It asked for information as to the handling of the Hamlin statement and concluded:

"Personally, I am inclined to discourage carrying long statements of a controversial nature, but inasmuch as we carried Mr. Arbuckle's statement rather fully my judgment is that we might have handled a little more of Mr. Hamlin's. Kindly see that I am prepared as briefly as our story here indicates."

A reply from Mr. Hagerty stated that 500 words of the Hamlin statement had come into the Denver office over the wire from Colorado Springs, but that, owing to the crowded condition of the Associated Press wires, only 200 had been sent east and 61 words were cut in the dispatch at relay points before it reached New York.

Hamlin Writes Stone.

Mr. Hamlin then wrote Mr. Stone, October 27, 1911:

"Permit me to thank you for your kind letter of the 23rd instant and to express my appreciation of your position in the matter. I can readily understand how the situation arose, and of course know the Associated Press desires to do full justice to all interests with entire impartiality. There is to be a meeting of the beet sugar interests in Chicago on November 15, at which time a statement will probably be issued concerning this industry and the reasons for the present high prices of sugar. I trust it will be such a one as your association will be able to handle."

Mr. Stone's reply to that, dated October 30, 1911, read:

"I have yours of October 27. I am notifying our Chicago office that if the statement to be issued on November 15 comes at all within the scope of our work, to handle it."

Mr. Stone on the same time wrote to John F. Gavitt, then superintendent of the central division of the Associated Press at Chicago:

"There is to be a meeting of the beet sugar interests in Chicago on November 15, at which time a statement probably will be issued concerning the industry and the reasons given for the present high prices of sugar. On October 15 we carried from New York a statement from John Arbuckle on this subject, and I suppose that the one from Chairman Hamlin is in some sense an answer, which I think in justice we ought to carry. I personally do not know anything about carrying Mr. Arbuckle's statement, nor was I familiar with the contest between the beet interests and the cane sugar interests.

"Please use your judgment respecting the beet sugar statement and handle it upon its news merits."

Mr. Hamlin's reply to Mr. Stone's brief letter of October 30 was dated November 6, 1911. Hamlin wrote he proposed to submit any statement prepared in Chicago to the Associated Press officials and expressed the opinion because much of it was in the nature of "expert evidence," it might be of a character that would not be admissible before the Hardwick committee in Washington.

Copies of all the dispatches carried from Chicago by the Associated Press during the conference of the beet sugar interests were also furnished to the committee by Mr. Stone and Hamlin thanked Stone profusely for the accuracy of the Associated Press reports.

Hamlin's Interview With Stone.

Mr. Hamlin's letter of November 8 was dated at Washington. Mr. Stone said his recollection was that Hamlin had called at the New York offices of the Associated Press just prior to that time and had been introduced.

"I saw him for a few moments," said Mr. Stone, "and my memory is very clear that I said to him, 'You will have an opportunity before congress, and as we report all of these hearings before congress, any statement that you have desire to make will be reported there.'"

Mr. Stone testified that Mr. Hamlin's reference in the fact that the proposed statements might not be made before the Hardwick committee was evidently in reply to that suggestion.

The committee did not question Mr. Stone today, but Chairman Overman asked him to hold himself in readiness to appear before the committee later if it desired.

"I am frequently more or less amused," Mr. Stone told the committee, "at the popular notion in respect to matters of this sort, and perhaps I might add, especially that both as to the Associated Press and as to all press associations and as to newspapers, I am frequently impressed that injustice is done by the refusal to meet the wishes of applicants for publicity.

"Whenever a man comes into a newspaper office or into an Associated Press office and asks for publication of anything he is met with a degree of suspicion. They all think he has some ax to grind and he has a very poor show of securing justice. We have a rule in our service that has been in existence for many years that no publicity agent can give us anything. We will not accept anything from him.

"As an illustration of what I have said, a number of railroads have publicity agents and the rule is absolute that the publicity agents cannot further anything. We will not accept anything from them."

Mr. Stone agreed to furnish the committee with the rules and by-laws of the Associated Press and with all information about the origin of the Arbuckle statement on sugar in 1911 out of which the correspondence now before the committee developed.

Newlands Makes Statement.

Senator Newlands' statement concerned references in one of Henry T. Oxnard's letters made public yesterday that Oxnard was trying to have Newlands put on the senate Philippine committee in 1907.

"I looked at it with amusement," said Mr. Newlands, "the reference to my name and that of Senator Teller. I wish to state most emphatically that my application to go on the Philippine committee in 1907 was not suggested or influenced by Mr. Oxnard. I had been in the Philippines with the Taft party in 1906 and came back with pronounced views regarding the Philippines, a democratic caucus placed me on the Philippine committee in 1907."

DANCE TO OPEN ROOF GARDEN OF THE ATLANTA CLUB

The attractive rooms of the Atlanta club in the Forsyth building will be the scene of an elaborate and enjoyable dance with which the club will entertain its members and their friends.

Flowers, plants, flags and pennants will be used to decorate the club rooms and the occasion will be made the formal opening for the season of the delightful roof garden. The dance itself will be held in the large ball room.

Extensive arrangements have been made for the success of the affair under Madison Bell, chairman of the entertainment committee, assisted by Dr. George Brown, the club president, and Hugh L. Cordozo, its secretary.

Arkansas Bank Closes.

Little Rock, Ark., June 19.—The Valley Savings bank, of Argenta, Ark., closed its doors late today, after a run which began on Tuesday. W. W. Hurst, president of the institution, issued a statement tonight declaring the bank solvent and asserts that business would probably be resumed after a meeting of the board of directors tomorrow. It is stated that the bank holds deposits of approximately $130,000.

The Tennessee Legislature.

Nashville, Tenn., June 19.—The Tennessee legislature, with a quorum present in both houses, assembled at 8:30 o'clock tonight. The funding board sought to have rushed through immediately the resolution authorizing the board to borrow money on short term notes to meet the bond maturity July 1. The regular democrats, constituting the majority in both houses, refused to allow this resolution to pass, preferring to introduce it in the form of a bill which will require three days to pass on three readings and become a law. Such a bill was introduced tonight.

14 1-2% ON $8,000.00

We have had listed with us for sale an unusually good income-producing piece of property.

Near a manufacturing plant in Edgewood, at the corner of New and Railroad Streets, on lot 85x607 feet, we offer thirteen houses, bringing in a monthly income of $97.

These houses have just been gone over thoroughly and are in good condition; all rented and will always stay rented, owing to the fact of their nearness to the manufacturing plant.

This property can be bought for $8,000 on reasonable terms. Look around and see what you can get on an income basis for $8,000, and then take a look at this.

June Roses and June Brides

"Happy be the wedding day," runs an old English song.

Happy, indeed, is the bride who is remembered by her friends—who gets a shower of presents as well as a shower of rice.

What to give a bride?

Thousands are asking themselves and others this question this month; but it shouldn't be a difficult matter to decide, for advertisements in THE CONSTITUTION are brimful of really helpful suggestions.

Something in gold or silver?

Something in cut glass?

Something in lingerie or footwear?

All these questions are answered in the advertisements, and as you read over the pages today or later you'll be glad of the suggestion.

Make it a point to search the advertisements if you want to give some friend a pretty gift, or if you are in doubt which store to patronize.
